tion was said to be awaiting reports on other state surveys. The names currently under consideration remain a closely guarded secret. Nixon associates have indicated the final selection is likely to be a moderate-to-liberal Republican with vote-pulling potential in the cities, but the organization's polls also were said to have sampled reaction to more conservative GOP figures.

Among the names thought to be under consideration are those of U.S. Sens. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, Edward Brooke of Massachusetts, Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, John Tower of Texas, Govs. Reagan, Daniel J. Evans of Washington and George Romney of Michigan; former Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay.

One Nixon source said the field had been narrowed to seven names, but would not say what they were.

Rockefeller and Reagan both headed from the National Governors Conference here, which closed a four-day session Wednesday, to continue their meetings with GOP state delegations. No candidate gained any new public endorsements at the conference.

The Cincinnati conference got a harsh farewell from one retiring Democratic governor, Philip H. Hoff of Vermont. He issued a windup statement charging the sessions had "little relevance to the crucial issues confronting our society"—such as city problems, social and economic justice and poverty.

"We have heard speaker after speaker intone the rhetoric of reaction and retrenchment," Hoff said. "If the public pronouncements of my fellow governors are an accurate reflection of the mood of this nation, then I despair for the people of America." Hoff said the mood of the conference was one of negativism, that he cannot believe this is the real temper of the nation.

Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington, also a Democrat and the new chairman of the governors conference, disputed that assessment.

"We are living up to our responsibilities and I think that further progress will be made," he said.

"There were some views that might be called reactionary," said Gov. John A. Volpe, R-Mass. "But they did not predominate. Over-all, I think we've made substantial progress."

Other campaign contributions to Public Works Committee members included $1,000 each to Reps. John Blatnik, D-Minn., and William H. Harsha, R-Ohio; $1,000 to Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, in 1966 and $2,000 to Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., the story said.

Another contribution, the newspaper reported, was $2,375 to Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., in April of this year. Monroney is a member of the Senate appropriations subcommittee on public works, the story said.

Additional Democrats on the House Public Works Committee who received $500 campaign contributions, as reported by Kotz, were Robert E. Jones, Alabama; James Wright, Texas; Kenneth Gray, Illinois; Frank Clark, Pennsylvania; Harold Johnson, California; W. J. Bryan Dorn, South Carolina; Arnold Olsen, Montana; Ray Robert, Texas, and James Kee, West Virginia.

Among Republican members of the Public Works Committee reported to have received $500 campaign contributions were James Grover, New York; Roger Zion, Indiana; Charlotte Reld, Illinois, and Charles Hallock, Indiana.

Senate Public Works Committee $1,000 campaign contribution recipients were Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del., Kotz wrote.

The bill was approved by the House and sent to the Senate on a vote of 304-118.

Truck Lobby Is Hit by Press Expose

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The Des Moines Register said in a copyrighted story today that the nation's trucking industry has totaled at least $28,000 the past two years in campaign contributions to key members of congressional committees.

Nick Kotz, Pulitzer prize winning reporter in the newspaper's Washington bureau, said records of the clerk of the House of Representatives reveal that in the House Public Works Committee, 11 of 13 ranking Democrats received contributions of from $500 to $3,000.

The Register story said second ranking and third ranking Republicans also received contributions. It said sizable contributions have been given members of the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee.

All the congressional committees are involved in a truck-backed bill to permit larger trucks on the interstate highway system, the newspaper said.

Kotz wrote that the Senate Finance Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee have not acted on a bill opposed by truckers which would increase the highway use tax for diesel fuel vehicles.

"The Johnson administration originally called for passage of this bill to help finance repairs and new construction, which will be required by permitting wider, heavier and longer trucks on the nation's highways," he wrote.

The Register said other contributions have been given members of the Senate Commerce Committee and House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committees.

"Over-all, the truckers campaign fund committee has distributed at least $83,000 the last two years, with almost all going to members of Congress on those committees of special concern to the trucking industry," the story said.

House Public Works Committee Chairman George Fallon, D-Md., received $1,000 and subcommittee chairman John R. Kuczyński, D-Ill., who introduced the bill, $3,000, Kotz wrote.

Other campaign contributions to Public Works Committee members included $1,000 each to Reps. John Blatnik, D-Minn., and William H. Harsha, R-Ohio; $1,000 to Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, in 1966 and $2,000 to Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., the story said.

Another contribution, the newspaper reported, was $2,375 to Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., in April of this year. Monroney is a member of the Senate appropriations subcommittee on public works, the story said.

Additional Democrats on the House Public Works Committee who received $500 campaign contributions, as reported by Kotz, were Robert E. Jones, Alabama; James Wright, Texas; Kenneth Gray, Illinois; Frank Clark, Pennsylvania; Harold Johnson, California; W. J. Bryan Dorn, South Carolina; Arnold Olsen, Montana; Ray Robert, Texas, and James Kee, West Virginia.

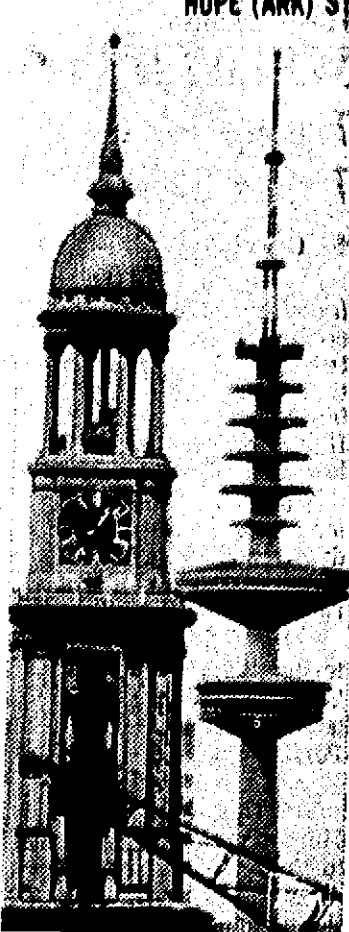

Among Republican members of the Public Works Committee reported to have received $500 campaign contributions were James Grover, New York; Roger Zion, Indiana; Charlotte Reld, Illinois, and Charles Hallock, Indiana.

Senate Public Works Committee $1,000 campaign contribution recipients were Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and J. Caleb Boggs, R-Del., Kotz wrote.

The bill was approved by the House and sent to the Senate on a vote of 304-118.

trous plight," one source commented. They are bound to lose face, no matter what they do. But the Czechoslovak leaders are anything but gleeful about this.

"The most important task we face right now is to pave the way for the Russians to get out of this," one Czechoslovak party analyst said.

The fact that the Soviet politico agreed to meet the Czechoslovak leadership, and in Czechoslovakia, is seen here as a shift in Moscow's tactics that may signal a change in strategy, too.

In contrast to the Warsaw meeting of the orthodox parties, the Czechoslovak party is no longer an accused facing condemnation in absentia.

No one in Prague expects swift understanding in the Soviet-Czechoslovak talks, which are expected to begin early next week. But it is believed the meeting may produce more than a restating of positions.

Soviet concern that the changes in Czechoslovakia might weaken a decisive link in the Warsaw Pact system are most likely to be the central issue in the discussions.

many is not sufficiently protected was expressed in a Soviet note preceding the agreement to meet. But initial reports published in the West that the Russians demanded stationing of a certain number of troops in Czechoslovakia have been largely discounted.

ing for Miami Beach for preliminaries to the GOP National Convention it is doubtful a quorum will be on hand. Since Congress will recess at the end of next week for both party conventions in August it is unlikely that the committee will resume its deliberations until September.

The delay shrouds the outcome in further uncertainty, since a filibuster in the Senate against confirmation is threatened once the committee acts on Fortas' nomination to succeed retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren.

President Johnson also has nominated federal Circuit Judge Homer Thornberry as an associate justice, but there will be no vacancy on the court for Thornberry to fill unless Fortas is confirmed.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said he didn't think the committee's hearings had helped Fortas' chances and predicted it will be very difficult to break a filibuster. A two-thirds majority is required to end debate.

Earlier Hart, a Fortas supporter, had said the same thing. McClellan described the film "07" as "something no civilized country can tolerate." He said he understands it is not permitted to be shown "even in France."

The entire film consists of a girl in bra, garter belt and sheer transparent panties gradually stripping herself naked, mostly while writhing on a couch.

The first steamship made its trial run in Lyons, France. This city became the world's silk capital after the mulberry tree was introduced; Jacquard invented his loom here; Ampere worked on the laws of electrodynamics that led to modern great hydroelectric works; and the brothers Lumiere experimented with the movie camera.

Lowest War Casualties in 9 Months

SAIGON (AP) — The total number of Americans killed in combat in Vietnam dropped to 157 last week, the lowest weekly toll in more than nine months. Casualties reported for South Vietnamese and enemy forces were slightly less than those for the week before.

It was the fourth consecutive week that the number of U.S. combat dead was below 200, reflecting the prolonged lull in ground fighting. The U.S. Command believes the Viet Cong and North Vietnam are evading allied forces while they prepare for another big offensive.

The 157 Americans killed last week compared with 188 in the previous week, while the total of U.S. wounded rose from 1,337 in the week ending July 13 to 2,014 last week.

The killed figure was the lowest since the first week of last October, when 102 Americans were reported killed.

Of last week's wounded, the U.S. Command said 1,092 required hospitalization, while 522 were not wounded seriously enough to need hospital treatment.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 156 government soldiers were killed last week, 580 were wounded and 10 were missing, compared with 157 killed, 600 wounded and 16 missing.

The U.S. Command reported 1,248 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed, slightly less than a revised total of 1,259 for the previous week.

U.S. headquarters said the number of Americans killed since Jan. 1, 1961, totals 26,097 and the wounded total 136,044. Of the wounded, 58,326 were hospitalized.

Enemy dead since the start of 1961 total 372,636, the U.S. Command said.

Israelis to Negotiate on Airliner

By RODNEY PINDER
Associated Press Writer
TEL AVIV (AP) — The Israeli government talked softly today about its hijacked airliner despite growing belief abroad that it would retaliate with some action against one of its Arab neighbors.

Algeria, where the plane was forced to land Tuesday by three members of an Arab terrorist organization, also seemed to be moving cautiously.

The Algerian delegate to the United Nations, Tewfik Boutatoua, told U.N. Undersecretary-General Ralph J. Bunche his government is still investigating the hijacking and has not decided what to do with the Boeing 707 jet, its 10 crew members from El Al, the Israeli airline, and the 12 Israeli passengers. The Algerians released 23 non-Israeli passengers Tuesday.

THURSDAY, JULY 25
The Millwood Shrine Club will have a business and dinner meeting Thursday, July 25 at 7 p.m. at Joda's Cafe in Nashville. Hope members and those living south of Hope are asked to meet at Whitfield Masonic Lodge at 6:15 p.m. July 25, so that they may go to Nashville in a group. Important business regarding a visit by Potentate Barnes in August and securing Shrine candidates will be discussed.

SATURDAY, JULY 27
The Bodcaw Riding Club will sponsor a rodeo at 8 p.m. Saturday, July 27 with a Pig Scramble for youngsters, Barrel Racing, Pole Bending, Flag Racing, Junior and Senior Bull Riding, a Rope Scramble, and other events. Admission is 25 cents and 50 cents, and sandwiches, cakes, and desserts will be on sale. Entrants are needed for all events.

There will be an informal dance at the Country Club Saturday, July 27 at 8:30 p.m. Host and hostess are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Easterling and Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw.

SUNDAY, JULY 28
A Mixed Scotch Ball Golf Tournament will be played at the Hope Country Club on Sunday, July 28 beginning at 4:30 p.m. This has been called a Fun Tournament, and it will be followed by a covered dish supper. Host couples are all members from Lewisville: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bray, Mr. and Mrs. John Beatty, and Mr. and Mrs. Boyett Powell.

On Sunday, July 28 the guest minister at the First Presbyterian Church will be the Rev. Harry A. Osborne, associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Hot Springs.

Births
Sgt. and Mrs. James L. Ball announce the arrival of a baby boy, Sunday, July 21. He weighed 8 lbs. and 4 ounces and has been named James Leonard Ball Jr. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Odell. Paternal grandmother is Mrs. A. C. Ball, all of Hope.

ROCKY MOUND HOMEMAKER'S CLUB MEETS
The club president, Mrs. Floyd Pharris, Sr., presided and opened the Rocky Mound Homemaker's Club by reading the thought of the month, "Wisdom consists in knowing what to do with what you know".

Mrs. Juris brought the devotional from Proverbs 31:10-31. The leader's reports were given and a good discussion by all. Plans were made by the club to hold its annual picnic at Fair Park August 16.

The hostess, Mrs. Juris, served frosted cakes, cookies and nuts to 5 members, one guest, Mrs. Marilyn Cox. The meeting adjourned with all repeating the Collect.

MELROSE EXTENSION CLUB MEETS
The Melrose Extension Homemaker's Club met on Tuesday July 23 at the Fair Park. The meeting was opened by singing "In the Garden". The devotion was given by Mrs. Perry Henley. The Homemaker's Prayer was repeated by all members present. Lessons on "Be Wise With Your Buys" was given by Mrs. Monroe Willis. "Create More Usable Closet Space" by Mrs. Olan Smith. "Reducing Medical Care" by Mrs. Virgil Roberston.

The club received a new member, Mrs. Eva McNight. Iced watermelon was served to eight members, and four guests. The next meeting will be held August 13 at Fair Park.

Personal Mention
From the current issue of the Arkansas Methodist it is learned that Gordon Bolar is the summer youth director at the Trinity United Methodist Church in Little Rock. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Bolar, former residents of Hope who now live in Little Rock. Gordon is a pre-law student at Hendrix College, where he has been active in dramatics and is a member of Alpha Psi Omega, honorary drama fraternity. Last summer he was a lifeguard at Methodist Camp Tanako. His plans for the youth at Trinity Church this summer include participation in a Sunday morning worship service based on contemporary music; a trip to help an orphanage in Monterey, Mexico; and a youth activities week in late August.

Disgruntled salesman friend says that anyone on a commission doesn't have to worry about keeping to a reducing diet.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!
This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us! it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! in this newspaper. Dear Helen: I thought it was tough getting a job last summer, but I didn't know anything! I only had to apply at about 20 places last year, before I found summer work to help with my education. This year? Impossible! You see, I'm middle class. My folks are not on welfare, nor are they of an underprivileged minority group. And so I can't make college money, and I'll probably have to float a loan.

I'm not begrudging the poor people work. Like they say, if you give a slum kid a job, you keep him from going delinquent. But ALL the jobs he's offered first to guys who—somehow—would rather hang loose on street corners?

Rich or influential parents use pull to get their sons summer work. Youth Opportunity gives the "deprived" a break. But I've walked my feet down to the knees, written so many applications I went broke buying stamps, and I'm still—UNEMPLOYED AND HURTING.

Dear U and H: You've got a point. Without pull or poverty going for him, the average middle class student often loses out on summer jobs. But sometimes it's his own fault: He doesn't lay the groundwork soon enough.

Tell me, did you start applying for work back in February? Did you take every State, County and Federal Civil Service test available? Did you discuss your situation with your school counselor, or other adults who might know about job openings? Did you try national parks or vacation resorts where students are hired in great numbers?

With a b o u t ten unemployed young people for every summer slot, you've got to be the first with the most these days. Remember that next winter and get your name in early.—H.

Dear Helen: I am a soldier in Vietnam. Maybe I'll be home by the time you print this letter. Maybe I'll be dead. I am in artillery. We support the troops on their search and destroy missions.

I lost my best friend over here. The night before he died we were playing cards and talking about what we'd do if we made it home. He was a Negro, and he was very young. I cried when I heard of his death. He was a good man. He was happy to serve his country and fight for freedom. But he wanted to live.

Senator Kennedy was a good man who served his country and wanted to live. Maybe there isn't much relation between my dark-skinned friend and Bobby Kennedy except they both died of a bullet wound, but I think they would have like each other very much. And I mourn for them both!

When will there be an end to killing?—PFC, B.W.

Dear PFC BW: I wish I had an answer to your question. I can only repeat what our local television commentator said on the day Senator Kennedy died: "The darkest night the world has ever seen did not put out the stars." Believe it, and work for a time when we'll all learn to close out the dark.—H.

Dear Helen: I read about the fortunate experience with computer matching which one of your

Trump Play Takes Skill

By Oswald and James Jacoby

One of the classic problems faced by declarer at a suit contract is when to pull trumps. If you don't pull them you risk having the defense ruff one of your winners. If you do pull them you may lose control of the hand.

South wins the opening heart lead. His first thought is to draw trumps right away so as to avoid the chance of a club ruff against him. He doesn't

He must go after clubs immediately.

Let's see what happens. At trick two South leads a low club. West makes his best play and ducks. South can afford to play two rounds of trumps now and should do so. He wins the second trump lead in his own hand and leads a second club.

If West ducks, South simply leads a third club and eventually will get to dummy with the last trump to get two diamond discards on the long clubs. He will make his contract with an overtrick.

West can stop the overtrick by winning the second club and giving his partner a ruff, but he can't beat the contract.

Of course, West could have beaten the contract had he made the inspired opening lead of a diamond. This would set up two immediate diamond tricks for the defense. Then if West were smart enough to win the second club and give his partner a ruff, South would be off four tricks before he got around to discarding on clubs.

DESTINED TO DIE, the Biafran children in these photos may already have succumbed to starvation and malnutrition because of a political standoff. Frustrated workers, top, stand in their mission surrounded by relief supplies which they are prevented from distributing because the Nigerian federal government insists emergency relief for secessionist Biafra be channeled through Nigeria, but the Biafran government will accept supplies only if flown directly to Biafra. Meanwhile thousands await death in the African nation.

Questions, Answers on Food Stamp Plan

1. What is the Food Stamp Program?
It is operated jointly by the State Department of Public Welfare and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It enables low-income families and those receiving public assistance to buy more food in retail stores. The program has two basic purposes: (1) to help low-income families get more food and a better diet for better health; and (2) to make better and greater use of our agricultural abundance.
2. How does the plan work?
Eligible low-income households are required to buy an amount of coupons equal to about what they have been spending for food per month. Then they are given additional coupons as a "bonus."
3. Will commodities be distributed in Food Stamp areas?
Distribution of USDA-donated commodities to needy families in Hempstead County will stop when the Food Stamp Program is operating. Commodities will continue to be distributed to schools and non-profit institutions.
4. Who is eligible to use USDA food coupons?
Eligible households would include persons receiving public assistance, such as those with dependent children, the aged, the permanently and totally disabled, and the blind. Also, the unemployed and households with a low income, but receiving no public assistance, may be certified to receive food coupons if need is established.
5. Who determines the eligibility of households?
The county welfare office.
6. Must eligible households participate in the Food Stamp Program?
No, the choice is up to each household. This is a voluntary program.
7. Will taking part in the Food Stamp Program affect assistance checks or other benefits received?
No, this will not affect public assistance checks or other benefits.
8. Why do eligible participating households have to buy food coupons?
To make certain that eligible households use food coupons to boost their food purchases. The amount they buy is geared to their present income and family size. The county welfare office will determine this amount. Then, families are issued an additional amount of coupons to permit them to buy a more adequate and more nutritious diet. In this way, households will use their food coupons to increase their food purchases—and not as a substitute for their usual food expenses.
9. What is the "half-price" plan?
When a family is certified, a definite amount is required to be paid for food coupons; this is called the purchase requirement. The first time coupons are bought, the price is only half of this amount.
10. How often can eligible households buy USDA food coupons?
Usually once or twice a month. The county food coupon issuing office will designate a time and a place where coupons are sold.
11. Must the eligible household pay for these in cash?
Yes. Welfare checks or personal checks will not be accepted.
12. Is it necessary to buy the entire amount of food coupons each month as indicated on the identification card?
Yes. However, if income is received twice a month, it is possible to arrange with the caseworker to buy twice a month.
13. Where can USDA food coupons be spent?
With any food retailer who has been authorized by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service to accept them. Such retailers display a sign indicating eligible foods.
14. What can be purchased with USDA food coupons?
Only food for human consumption—no dog or cat foods or feeds for poultry and livestock or alcoholic beverages or tobacco. Any meat that the retailer knows is imported cannot be purchased with USDA food coupons. Also, any food which is labeled on the package as imported cannot be purchased with USDA food coupons. Retailers sell soap, drugs and other household needs which are not foods, so they cannot be purchased with USDA food coupons. The reason for this is plain. One of the purposes of the Food Stamp Program is to help farmers in the United States move more of their food products through regular commercial trade channels.
15. Can sales tax be paid with USDA food coupons?
Yes. They may be accepted for payment of sales tax, but only for eligible food purchased with coupons. This is good reason for separating coupon purchases from other items that are paid for with cash at the checkout counter.
16. When will the program start in this area?
Food coupons will go on sale in early August.
17. Where can a person get more information on the Program?
Heads of families who wish to be certified as eligible to buy and use the Food Coupons should contact the Welfare Office in Hope.
- Grocers should contact the Consumer Food Programs Field Office of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service in Texarkana.

Orioles Dump Detroit; A's Beat Chisox

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Baltimore Orioles and Oakland Athletics really know how to hurt a guy. The Orioles beat one fellow at his own game and the A's beat another at his 90th game.

Luis Tiant of the Cleveland Indians and Hoyt Wilhelm of the Chicago White Sox wore the bruises today.

Giving Tiant a taste of his own medicine, the Orioles blanked the American League's shutout leader 1-0 Wednesday night behind Dave McNally, and took second place by a full game.

Oakland watched peacefully while Wilhelm broke the major league record for pitching appearances, but when the ageless reliever tried an encore, the A's knocked him out with two swings for a 1-0, 2-1 doubleheader sweep over the Sox.

Tiant's loss particularly hurt because it enabled the Orioles, instead of the Indians, to pick up another game on the slipping Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers dropped a 6-3 decision to Washington and find their 9½ game lead of 13 days ago cut to five over Baltimore, with Cleveland another length back.

Boston, rained out at New York, picked up a half game and now stands 9½ behind in the tightest race.

Minnesota crushed California 12-1 in the other contest.

In the National League, St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 3-1, Atlanta edged the New York Mets 3-2 in 10 innings and Houston slipped by Los Angeles 1-0 in night games, and Chicago blanked San Francisco 2-0 in the afternoon. Cincinnati was rained out at Pittsburgh.

Tiant, 16-6, aiming for his ninth shutout, lost it in the first inning when Don Buford opened with a triple and two outs later Boog Powell doubled. The Indians' ace right-hander stopped the Orioles from then on until the eighth when he left for a pinch hitter after giving five hits, but the damage was done.

McNally, winning his fourth straight since the All-Star break, hurled a six-hitter to raise his record to 12-8 as he gave the Orioles their first shutout against Cleveland this season. The Indians had blanked the Orioles four times, including once by Tiant.

Jim Nash, 7-6, halted the White Sox on four hits in the opener, beating Tommy John, 7-3, on Rick Monday's two-out single in the fifth inning after Bert Campaneris singled and stole second. But the big excitement was supplied by Wilhelm.

The knuckleballer, who will be 45 Friday, pitched the ninth inning, getting a standing ovation as he made his 90th pitching appearance in 1½ years. It broke the mark of 906 set by Cy Young in 1911.

But his second showing, and 43rd of the season, in the second game failed to impress the A's. The White Sox had scored their first run in 38 innings in the eighth against John "Blue Moon" Odom on Luis Aparicio's hit for a 1-0 tie, but Wilhelm lost it in the ninth.

Reggie Jackson stroked a single, took second when center fielder Ken Berry bobbed the ball and one out later, after an intentional walk, Floyd Robinson cracked the game-winning single.

Detroit lost for the ninth time in 14 games since the All-Star break as the Senators' Ken McMullen drove in four runs with a homer and single and Hank Allen, subbing for injured Frank Howard, cracked four hits, scored three times and drove in one run.

Jim Hannan, 4-2, lasted until the ninth for the victory.

Minnesota bombarded the Angels with its biggest attack of the year, 20 hits, including three each by Rod Carew, John Roseboro and Ted Uhlaender, who doubled home three runs in the first inning.

Dean Chance breezed in with a six-hitter to even his record at 9-9.

Legra Wins Feather Title Go

PORTRCAWL, Wales (AP) — Jose Legra danced a victory jig in his dressing room after stopping Howard Winstone of Wales and winning a share of the world featherweight boxing championship.

The 25-year-old Cuban-born fighter, who now hails from Madrid, Spain, stopped Winstone in 2:02 of the fifth round Wednesday night before 11,600 at Coney Beach Open Air Stadium. Referee Harry Gibbs stopped it because of a bad cut over Winstone's left eye.

"I told you I'd beat him," said Legra, beaming with excitement. "Many people have criticized me for talking a lot. Now they've seen me in action. I was so confident about it that I could say I would win. I'm the best in the world today and will be for a very long time."

Legra will have to defeat Raul Rojas of San Pedro, Calif., however, to gain universal recognition as world featherweight champ. Rojas is recognized as champ by the World Boxing Association. Winstone, 29, was recognized as titleholder in Britain, Europe, Mexico and the Orient.

The victory avenged Legra's only defeat in 83 fights, a loss to Winstone in 1965.

Legra weighed 125½, Winstone 125½.

Dean Martin Has Big Time at Tourney

By MIKE COCHRAN
ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — It was a familiar scene of sorts, straight from a classic old western.

Here he came, Dean Martin, shirt open at the front, pants drooping and wrinkled, hair disheveled.

And he was flanked by two west Texas deputies, six-shooters strapped at the hip.

He looked like he had just plucked that silver dollar from the spittoon in a John Wayne movie, Rio Bravo.

But the actor-crooner rolled in a six-foot putt, waved to the gallery and vanished—ending the annual prelude to the Odessa pro-am.

That's the way it goes here every year in the pro-am, a $35,000 event that probably would be unruffled if it gave away peanuts instead of money. Martin is teamed with crooner-golfer Don Cherry.

"If it wasn't fun, Martin wouldn't be here and neither would a bunch of these pros," said a tournament official.

That's the philosophy behind this fairways frolic, which attracts a number of top pros and most of the state's finest amateurs.

They are shooting for a top prize of $8,000, up somewhat from the reward brothers Don and Rik Massengale collected here a year ago. Pro Don and

Wanted: A Big Stake at Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — Wanted: Two dedicated baseball backers with a total of $2,500,000 to invest in Montreal's infant National League team for 1969.

Charles Bronfman, vice chairman of the original board of seven backers, announced at a news conference Wednesday that chairman J. Louis Levesque, a Montreal financier, had advised Mayor Jean Drapeau and board members that he was withdrawing his support of the group.

Marc Bourgie, a wealthy funeral director, had announced Tuesday he was pulling out of the operation.

However, Levesque's retirement from the scene did not discourage Bronfman. He said he and the four other remaining directors—Montrealers John Newman, Sidney Maislin and Lorne Webster and Robert Isray of Chicago—are not disheartened by the moves of the others and are working with Drapeau to replace the pair.

Montreal and San Diego were granted franchises by the National League May 27 and will operate next season as part of a 12-team, two-division league.

Bronfman and Webster—the only two members of the board on hand for the news conference—both said that Levesque had simply decided he wished to withdraw.

When the National League owners decided in favor of Montreal, the franchise was granted to the city. Gerry Snyder, energetic vice chairman of the Montreal's executive committee, made the pitch and then had to find backers for the proposed team.

"We as a group didn't ask to be in baseball," Bronfman said. "But when we were approached we thought of the good it could do for Quebec and Canada. American investors have a way of looking at things and it impresses them very much that major league baseball is in a city."

Neither Bronfman nor Webster ruled out the possibility of Lou Perini, former owner of the Boston and Milwaukee Braves and currently a director of the Atlanta team, entering the Montreal picture. Perini is a Boston construction magnate.

Asked if the sponsors would seek to fill the financial gap by public subscription, Webster said the National League agreement prohibits the sale of shares to anyone else in the first five years.

Bronfman set the franchise fee figure at $10 million but admitted it could run closer to $14 million if bank loans and other financing proved necessary.

He said his group is committed to pay $1.12 million to the league by Aug. 15, with a further payment due in May 1969.

"It takes a lot of time to find money," he added. "This thing will not live in limbo for three weeks until Aug. 15, and if we can't find the right people and carry the situation, we won't proceed."

amateur Rik plunged 37 under par for 72 holes over the wind-swept Odessa Country Club course in winning the title by five strokes.

The Jacksboro, Tex., brothers are back to defend the crown against a strong pro-am field that includes many of the touring pros.

Among the favorites are 1966 champions Charles Coody of Abilene, Tex., and his amateur partner Richard Patton.

Among the other top contenders are Don January-Dick Jennings, Ernie Vossler-Budd Brannum, Earl Stewart Jr. and son Chip, Marty Fleckman-Ken Newell, Rex Baxter-John Farquhar, Bob Hamilton-Grier Jones, Gay Brewer-John Paul Cain, Jacky Cupit-Hal Underwood and Billy Martindale-Jim Vickers.

The Province of Quebec welcomed 588,133 tourists during 1967 at its tourist branch information centers.

Cards Again Beat Phils; Astros Win

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Only three of Los Angeles' four hits against Don Wilson will show up on the Dodgers' side of the box score today. The one that won't hurt Don Drysdale a lot more than Wilson and the Houston Astros.

Dodger ace Drysdale forced in a fifth inning run Wednesday night by nicking Wilson with a pitch and the Houston right-hander made it stand up for a 1-0 victory over Los Angeles.

Wilson yielded three early singles, then retired the last 16 batters he faced—striking out the side in the ninth inning—to win the nod in a brilliant struggle with Drysdale.

In other National League games, St. Louis trimmed Philadelphia 3-1; Atlanta stopped New York 3-2 in 10 innings and Chicago blanked San Francisco 2-0. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were rained out.

Oakland swept an American League doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox 1-0 and 2-1 while Washington upended Detroit 6-3, Baltimore nipped Cleveland 1-0 and Minnesota mauled California 12-1. Boston's game at New York was washed out by rain.

Denis Menke and Bob Aspromonte touched Drysdale for singles in the fifth inning and Ron Brand was hit by a pitch, filling the bases. When Drysdale plunked Wilson with a pitch, Menke trotted home with the game's only run.

Drysdale also hit Rusty Staub with a pitch in the eighth inning for a career total of 151 hitbatsmen, one short of the National League record held by "Iron Man" Joe McGinnity.

Wilson, 8-11, stopped the Dodgers cold after Bob Balley's fourth-inning single. Drysdale, 12-7, yielded four hits before going out for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Curt Flood's two-run single climaxed a three-run third inning burst that carried St. Louis right-hander Ray Washburn, 9-3, to his sixth straight triumph. Dick Schofield singled home the first run off Larry Jackson, tying the game 1-1, before Flood delivered the deciding hit.

The Cards' third straight victory over Philadelphia gave them an 18-4 July record and kept them atop the league by 12½ games.

Second place Atlanta spotted the Mets a run in the top of the 10th, then snapped a five-game losing streak on Deron Johnson's two-out pinch single, Mike Lum's triple and a game-winning single by Bob Johnson.

Ed Charles' pinch homer in the eighth lifted the Mets into a 1-1 tie and they score the go-ahead run in the 10th on Jerry Buchek's double, a sacrifice bunt and Bud Harrelson's two-out infield hit.

Ron Santo's two-run ninth inning homer off the Giants' Gaylord Perry broke up a scoreless duel and gave southpaw Ken Holtzman his sixth victory in 13 decisions.

Holtzman scattered seven hits and Perry allowed only three until the ninth, when Billy Williams singled and Santo blasted his 15th homer, an opposite field shot to right.

Packers to Stage Squad Game Tonight

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Pro football's Super Duper Bowl will be played tonight—Green Bay vs. Green Bay.

Actually, it's only an intra-squad game, but Phil Bengtson, the Packers' new coach, will be watching as if another championship were at stake.

The main objects of Bengtson's interest will be fullback Jim Grabowski and halfback Elijah Pitts. Both missed the Super Bowl game with injuries and if they are recovered it will lighten Bengtson's already tough task of following in the coaching footsteps of Vince Lombardi.

Bengtson said he will field essentially the same offensive and defensive units that started the Super Bowl game against Oakland, including quarterback Bart Starr, five pounds lighter after several days of intestinal flu. Starr said he felt okay after Wednesday's scrimmage.

There was some action Wednesday night. Jim Corcoran, leading passer in the Atlantic Coast Football League last season, threw three touchdown passes as the New York Jets' rookies beat Bridgeport, their AFL farm club, 28-0.

Corcoran connected with Harvey Nairn of Southern University on a 75-yard scoring play and also threw for TDs of 15 yards to Tom Burnett and 14 to Wayne Richardson. Burnett and Richardson also played in the AFL last year.

Elsewhere, there were the usual number of injuries.

Pete Gent, a regular flanker for the Dallas Cowboys two years ago, was moved to tight end and promptly pulled a leg muscle. Offensive guard Chuck Walton of the Detroit Lions will undergo surgery to repair tendon damage in his right elbow.

Ernie Ladd, Kansas City's grain defensive end, pulled a groin muscle and rookie Lindon Enderley injured a foot. Spill end Jerry Simmons, regarded as a starter for the Atlanta Falcons, was sidelined with a nervous stomach.

In the Philadelphia Eagles' camp, rookie halfback Milt Martsin collided with Ike Kelley during a scrimmage and was carried off the field with a sprained ankle. Tight end Mike Ditka complained of a slight muscle pull and fullback Tom Woodeschick said his hands were bothering him in the 90-degree-plus heat.

Mathis Gets Nod Over Beattie

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Superior speed and boxing ability of Buster Mathis makes him a strong favorite over Junior Jim Beattie in their 10-round heavyweight scrap tonight at Metropolitan Sports Center.

The 24-year-old Mathis, who weighed 229 pounds when he finished training, is attempting to rebound from a technical knockout at the hands of Joe Frazier — his only loss in 25 fights.

The Grand Rapids, Mich., native, who weighed 340 as an amateur, has peeled off 15 pounds since his loss to Frazier in the hopes of gaining speed and stamina.

Mathis compared the 6-foot-9, 325-pound Beattie to Sonny Liston. "Good punch but slow. But please don't say Beattie can't think."

"I don't know him or his style that well," Beattie's forte in carrying out a 30-4 pro record is his left hook, but he's been working hard on developing a right. He'll have an edge in reach, weight and experience.

"I am ready for anything," Beattie vowed, "a dirty fight or a clean fight. I expect Mathis to come out fighting and to try to take me out early. If he does I have some surprises for him."

Biggest U.S. Gold Gain in 5 Years

By JOSEPH R. COVNE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Back in March, U.S. officials struggled to come up with a plan to end a gold crisis and restore confidence in the dollar. They watched the nation's gold pile shrink smaller and smaller. Now, in a complete reversal, the Treasury Department has reported one of the largest increases in the U.S. gold supply in over five years — up $213 million during June.

It was the first increase in U.S. gold since a $2 million gain last September and reversed the heavy losses which followed devaluation of the British pound last November.

The increase indicated renewed overseas confidence in the dollar, at least in relation to other currencies.

U.S. officials said the United States bought the gold from more than one foreign country but refused to say which ones.

The new figures, however, support the as yet unconfirmed reports that France sold as much as $100 million in gold to this country during June to obtain the currencies needed to weather an economic crisis.

It had been French policy until late 1966 to buy at least $34 million in U.S. gold monthly but she ran short of dollars after September of that year.

France bought more than $2.8 billion in U.S. gold under this policy from 1962 through 1966.

The June gain raised the total U.S. gold holdings by the end of the month to $10.6 billion and wiped out most of the losses of the previous two months.

In March, at the height of the gold crisis, the United States lost a record $1.2 billion in gold before sales to speculators in Europe were shut off by abolishing the London gold pool.

As members of the pool, the United States and six European countries fed enough gold from their official holdings to meet the demand on the private London gold market and hold the price at $35 an ounce.

A two-price system was established in March — one price of $35 an ounce for buying and selling among governments and the other governed by supply and demand on the free market.

The June gain in gold reduced the total drain for the first six months of this year to $1.384 billion, still larger than the $1.17 billion for all of 1967.

Politics At a Glance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here are Wednesday's major political developments at a glance:

Republicans: New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller campaigned in the Midwest, seeking support of young people in a Kansas City speech and plumping for support from Missouri and Kansas convention delegates in a closed meeting.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan boosted his unannounced candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination in the South, and rejected suggestions that the major parties form an alliance to lessen the impact of a big November vote for third-party candidate George Wallace.

Richard M. Nixon vacillated in California, but sources close to his campaign said Nixon has been conducting private polls in several states to test reaction to several potential vice presidential running mates.

Results have been inconclusive so far, the sources said.

Democrats: Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told the International Platform Association in Washington that the United States must learn from mistakes in Vietnam. He also promised two major statements on Far East policies in the next 10 days as he continued to carry out what is being regarded by some as an attempt to gently disengage himself from administration policies.

Humphrey's major rival for the Democratic nomination, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, spent the day tending to Senate business. Former Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle reported growing support for his campaign to get Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., on the Democratic ticket and Chicago Mayor Richard Daley said he hoped the Democratic convention drafted Kennedy as a vice presidential candidate.

Navy Deal Given Firm Being Probed

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has awarded a $13.9 million contract for rocket launchers to a company whose previous contracts for similar equipment have been involved in a federal grand jury investigation of possible kickbacks and conspiracy.

Outcome of the investigation has not been announced, and a Justice Department source familiar with the case refused to discuss it, even to the extent of revealing whether the investigation has been completed.

The new contract was awarded this week by the Naval Air Systems Command to the Techfab Division of Alisco Inc., St. Louis, to build rocket launchers for the Navy and the Air Force.

Documents filed in the U.S. District Court here last spring revealed that Alisco's subsidiary, Techfab, and Chromcraft Corp., which merged with Alisco in 1966, were the focus of an investigation of contracts awarded between 1963 and 1966 by the Navy for 2.75 inch rocket launchers for the Navy and the Air Force.

The specific allegations, as listed in the court papers, were violations of federal law against kickbacks, conspiracy and making false statements to the government.

The award to Techfab this week was, like past awards, for 2.75 inch rocket launchers, a Justice Department source said.

"The model may be different or the generic name may be different, but we're still talking about 2.75 inch rocket launchers," he said.

Alisco issued a public announcement last spring that it was under Justice Department investigation for possible irregularities involving "significant" expense items between some Alisco officials and a subcontractor.

At the same time, Alisco announced that its president, Andrew L. Stone, and a director, Francis N. Rosenbaum, had resigned.

A year earlier, the Navy had barred both Stone and Rosenbaum as procurement sources pending a Justice Department investigation.

Although Stone and Rosenbaum resigned their positions at Alisco, a telephone call to Techfab headquarters in St. Louis determined that Stone is listed as president of the subsidiary and Rosenbaum is a member of its board of directors.

Neither could be reached for comment on the new contract or the grand jury investigation.

Stone was sole owner of Chromcraft when it merged with Alisco in 1966. In the merger, Stone acquired 47 per cent of Alisco's stock.

In addition to the $13.9 million contract, the Naval Air Systems Command announced this week that Techfab was given a $1.85 million award for increased funding of an existing contract for rocket launchers.

Pentagon sources said the work on both contracts would be done at Techfab's headquarters, 4321 Temple Ave., St. Louis.

A Defense Department official would not say whether the Navy was aware of the federal investigation involving Techfab at the time of the new contract awards.

Johnson Lashes Out at Fulbright

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jim Johnson of Conway shattered an otherwise quiet day in the U. S. Senate race Wednesday with a double-barreled shot of criticism of Sen. J. William Fulbright.

In a television speech, Johnson said that the re-election of Fulbright "could likely be the total destruction of your country, your fortune and the lives of your children."

Johnson, Bobby K. Hayes of Calico Rock and Foster Johnson of Little Rock are opponents of Fulbright in the Democratic primary race.

"It is likely that if this man is re-elected and we do not get the right kind of change in the executive department of the United States, we very well may not have another election," Johnson said.

Johnson said Fulbright had "joined with the atheists in voting to outlaw devotions, invocations and benedictions in our public institutions."

"The junior senator's vote on this measure leaves little doubt in my mind as to what his position will be when these same people — these same atheists — propose the abolition of chaplains in the armed forces or when they propose to destroy religious institutions by removing donations from Internal Revenue exemption," Johnson said.

Johnson said that Fulbright's first major accomplishment in Congress was "to obtain the passage of a resolution in favor of a United Nations organization which, if established as he intended, would have absolutely destroyed the very Constitution he swore to uphold and defend."

He said that Fulbright has been the "principal advocate" of disarming America. He said that Fulbright had warned against the United States getting involved in any conflict over the return of the crew of the Pueblo.

"The senator compromises his position by saying that Russia and the United States have the power to destroy each other," Johnson said.

"This has been the left-wing excuse for our gutless foreign policy since Russia assembled her first crude nuclear device from parts stolen piece by piece from the United States. Fulbright doesn't even want us to talk about Communists — we might offend them."

Meanwhile, Hayes said at Little Rock that he would not support Fulbright or Jim Johnson if one of them should win the Democratic nomination.

The party loyalty oath that Hayes signed requires that a candidate support the party's nominee.

Hayes said he didn't read all the "fine print."

"Maybe I should have," he said. "Maybe I would never gotten into the race."

Hayes said, however, he feels he will win the nomination and will not have to worry about the loyalty oath. He said, though, "That's a pledge I might have to break."

Hayes said the reason he couldn't support Fulbright is because "he voted against medicare under John F. Kennedy."

He said he couldn't support Jim Johnson because of his support for a third party candidate and because "he's trying to divide America."

"I think the country is bigger than the party," Hayes said.

A day on the moon lasts about two weeks (336 hours).

State Swim Records Due to Fall

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The kind of performances expected to be typical of the Arkansas AAU senior men's and women's swimming championships this weekend are likely to come in the first event Friday night.

That's the 1,650-yard freestyle, generally termed the mile race, and the state AAU records are expected to be soundly smashed.

The women's record-holder in the meet, which is for swimmers age 12 years or older, is Edith Frazer of the Little Rock Racquet Club, who set the mark last year in 22 minutes, four seconds.

She is among the 45 entrants, a record field, in the event this year, and already this year she has bettered the existing women's senior record by more than a minute.

The winning time for the men's 1,650-yard freestyle in 1967 was 19 minutes, 14 seconds, which broke the previous state record by 30 seconds.

This year the same swimmer, Pat Miles of the Racquet Club, goes into the meet with a time of 17 minutes, 38 seconds which he swam at the Region 8 senior championship in Oklahoma last March.

Since then, he has continued to improve and could possibly go under 17 minutes, Miles, 15, will be the youngest swimmer from Arkansas ever to enter the national AAU swimming championship at Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 1-4.

The one-meter diving will follow the 1,650-yard race. Miss Frazer is expected to retain her title in the women's division.

Citizens Of Hempstead County:

In radio talks I have reviewed some of the highlights of my legislative career. I am proud of the aggressive part I played in securing for Hempstead County the Red River Vocational Technical School. We succeeded despite strong competition.

By far, the location of this school in our county has meant much to us and its importance will increase with each passing year.

Did you know, this about our Red River Vocational Technical School?

1. The final decision to locate the school in Hope was made in the spring of 1965.

2. The instruction is by quarters, and classes began on September 26, 1966.

3. Upon its opening the staff numbered 13. Today there are 17 on the staff with 3 part time teachers, and 21 student laborers who work part time after school, all receiving a monthly pay roll totaling $11,229.84.

4. In the first quarter, after the opening of the school, there were 126 students. Since September 1, 1967 to July 20, 1968, 331 full time students have attended the school, and 561 additional students have taken short courses. During this same period an additional 1,153 students have attended part time, night classes or short courses in classes at Texarkana, Malvern, Glenwood and Little Rock under the supervision of our school. Instruction was given in the following apprenticeship programs: At Texarkana: Plumbing, Pipe Fitting, Electricity; as well as Insurance, Shorthand and Typing; — At Malvern: Nurses Aid; — At Glenwood: Nurses Aid; and — At Little Rock: Construction Supervision. Welding classes were also conducted at Texarkana for and paid for by the North American Tank Car Company.

5. The present full time enrollment is 142 students, and the maximum enrollment is 201 students.

6. The present yearly appropriation for the school is $330,000. However, only $230,000 has been and will be received this fiscal year due to a shortage of state funds.

7. 67 per cent of the full time students are paying their own way from savings or working their way through school from part time jobs, and 33 per cent or 114 are receiving full assistance as follows: (1) 74 from the Welfare Department for Work, Education and Training programs. Unfortunately our Welfare Department plans to phase out this program and no more will be trained. Instead of phasing it out it should be expanded. Your Representative has underway in the Arkansas Legislative Council a study to determine possible training and re-training programs for welfare recipients. If this study does not result in the implementation of the necessary funds to continue this program our loss will be people badly in need of this assistance. Our Welfare Department must be more aggressive in helping people to overcome social handicaps. To illustrate the importance of helping these students let me tell you about a student in this category now attending the School. He is from Hempstead County. He dropped out of High School at the end of World War II while in the 8th grade. He never held a job. He is married. He has been on and off the welfare rolls. He entered our school in December 1967. He has now developed into a good, conscious person with above average confidence in himself to provide for his family.

ly. He is now anxious to work for he knows he can now meet the job requirements of his employer. It makes me happy and proud to know of the great good being accomplished at our School for our less fortunate citizens, and you must surely feel the same way.

(2) 7 students from over the state are studying under the Manpower Development Training Act.

(3) 5 students are studying under Vocational Rehabilitation.

And (4) 28 Veterans have trained under the G.I. Bill of Rights.

8. Approximately 25 per cent of the full time students are from Hempstead County, and the others come from 24 other counties over the State. 5 buses bring the students to Hope from (1) Foreman through Texarkana, (2) DeQueen through Nashville, (3) Murfreesboro through Prescott, (4) Arkadelphia, and (5) Magnolia. More than 5 per cent of the students are living in Hope.

9. Plans are now underway to receive federal funds to provide at the school specialized instruction in connection with the Model Cities program. We are fortunate to have our school taking advantage of these opportunities.

Our School is in need of assistance from our Legislature and we are fortunate indeed that your Representative is a member of the joint budget committee, and is the chairman of the Arkansas Legislative Council, where all the budgets for the next two years will be formulated, and a leading candidate for the next Speaker of the House of Representatives. The speaker will personally appoint all of the House members who serve on the joint budget committee in the 1969 Regular Session of the Legislature.

Here is what is badly needed at our school.

1. A new building for welding instruction as there is not room in the present machine shop building for fabrication of projects inside the building. The work is being done outside and the glare from the electric welders is an eye hazard.

2. A new building with equipment is needed for the inclusion of auto mechanics in the school curriculum. The present building is for trucks and diesel. Our school is the only school in the state that teaches truck mechanics. Only our school and Tech Institute at Camden, do not teach automobile mechanics.

3. 8 new programs which will create a need for additional instructors at the school.

4. A new building is needed for building trades instruction or classes.

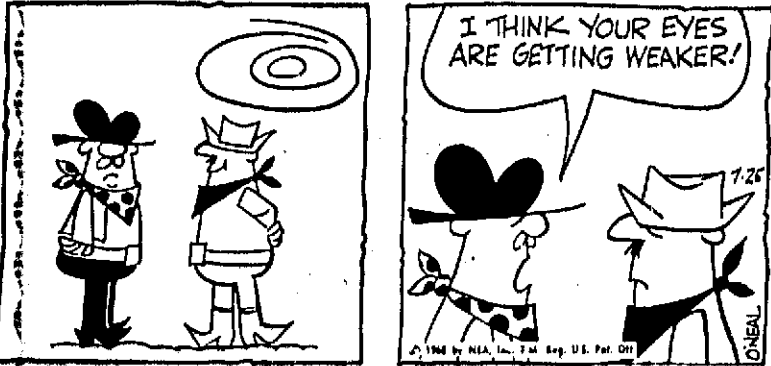

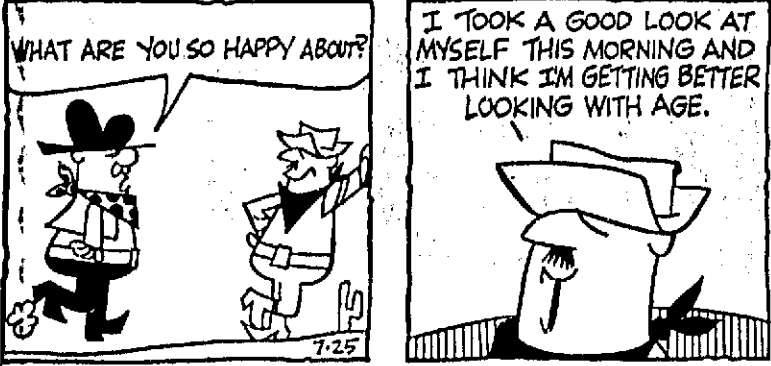

5. The construction of the planned building between the Administration and Shop Buildings should be undertaken so classes may be conducted there in drafting, electricity, and air conditioning.

As your Representative you may be assured I will do everything within my power to bring about the needed expansion and improvement of our Red River Vocational Technical School. Your vote and support on July 30th will be sincerely appreciated.

State Bans Mail Order Insurance

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Insurance Commissioner Allen W. Horne announced today that the department was prohibiting mail order solicitation and advertising by insurance companies unlicensed by the department.

Horne said that violation of the regulation would subject a company to a stiff penalty and that he believed "the risk to be so great" that he doubts that he'll have to bring suit against any company.

Violation of the statute, as interpreted through the new regulation provides penalties of fines of not less than $100 nor more than $500 for a first offense, and not less than $500 nor more than $5,000 for a second offense.

"The statute provides that each violation shall constitute a separate offense and I am taking the position that each piece of mail containing a solicitation is a violation constituting a separate offense," Horne said.

Horne said the department knew of about 40 unlicensed companies doing such business in the state today.

Horne also announced that effective Nov. 1, a rule would be adopted effectuating a 25 per cent reduction on decreasing term life insurance and a 31 per cent reduction on level term life insurance with similar reductions on disability insurance rate schedules.

Horne said that the rate reduction would save buyers of credit life and credit disability insurance approximately $2 million a year.

Horne said the regulations on credit insurance policies will also provide broader coverage at the lower rate than is now being provided at current rates.

Existing policies exclude coverage arising out of death due to suicide, aviation and military service. Horne said the new regulation will permit exclusions only for suicide and non-scheduled air flights.

Horne said the prohibiting of mail order insurance will include hospitalization, disability and health and accident insurance. He said any material advertising such insurance must have prior approval of the department.

"This action, in my opinion, makes the passage of a mail order bill unnecessary although it is probable that some amendments of the present law may

Mrs. Johnson Is Calm One of Campaign

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — In the waning days of the Democratic campaign, "the nice lady" in the governor's race remains phlegmatic and, at almost seems, aloof to the excitement swirling around her.

If she is heading for the Democratic runoff primary, as one of the latest polls indicates, Mrs. Jim Johnson doesn't trumpet her anticipation.

Rather, she quietly tells a hostess at a coffee given for her, "After the first primary, maybe we can work in another coffee before the runoff."

Standing at the coffee and wearing a dark blue suit and carrying a red, white and blue purse, Mrs. Johnson looked cool and tireless. Some of her followers marveled at her appearance.

"I get tired, but I get a little rest," she smiles. "It doesn't take much for me to bounce back."

She admits to getting a sore hand, however, because of all the handshaking and recalls that her husband's hand became raw during his 1966 campaign for governor.

What does she tell all those male voters?

"Better ask me what they say to me — 'We're with you all the way, girl,'" she smiles.

Mrs. Johnson says she isn't bothered that she's the only woman among the six candidates for governor, one of whom, Ted Boswell, has tagged her "the nice lady."

Mrs. Johnson received the red carpet treatment, literally, Wednesday at a coffee at the home of Mrs. Hilda Thevenet as an organist struck up "Dixie."

There wasn't much talk of politics, however. Mrs. Johnson chose not to make any formal remarks to the assemblage of about 40 women. She mingled among the women, exchanging pleasantries with the guests, and went for punch for two newsmen.

L.A. to Drill for Oil on City Land

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In a search for new revenue, Los Angeles plans to drill for oil and gas beneath the 28-story City Hall, once the tallest building in Southern California.

The Board of Public Works approved a proposal Wednesday to drill for oil and gas below 46.7 acres of city-owned land in the Civic Center area, including the spot over which city councilmen are trying so hard to find revenue.

"We don't know exactly how much oil is down there," said city oil administrator Arthur O. Spaulding. "It probably won't be anything outstanding, but it should be profitable."

Spaulding said chances there would be oil and gas below the city office building were "pretty good—about 50-50."

The idea was proposed last March by the Standard Oil Co. after it discovered oil last fall at First and Carey streets, a half mile southeast of City Hall.

Bids for the drilling will be opened Nov. 20, Spaulding said. If Standard Oil gets the bid, it would drill at a slant from its well at First and Carey streets. There won't be a derrick at City Hall, he said.

Standard Oil's operation at First and Carey streets is drilling into a reserve estimated at 20 million barrels over 20 acres in the downtown area.

The pressing need for revenue which prompted the city to go into the oil business was sharply outlined last week when the state ruled Los Angeles would stop getting some $80 million a year in state sales tax money if it went ahead with a plan to increase the city sales tax by 1 per cent.

The pressure was eased somewhat when a key legislative committee voted to permit the city tax. The permission was only for six months, however, during which the City Council would have to find a permanent solution.

Cambodian Border Is Bombed

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Fifty of America's most powerful bombers, the U.S. Air Force's B52s, attacked enemy base camps along the Cambodian border north of Saigon and in the central highlands Wednesday and today.

Senior U.S. officers said the heavy raids were made because of "a lot of enemy activity."

Flying in formations of five planes each, 10 waves of the Stratofortresses dropped 1,500 tons of explosives.

The U.S. Command also announced the loss of two more fighter-bombers, a Navy F4 Phantom downed about 150 miles north of the demilitarized zone and an Air Force Phantom which was hit by enemy fire in South Vietnam and crashed into Da Nang harbor.

All four fliers were rescued. The Navy plane was the 868th U.S. warplane lost in combat over North Vietnam, while the other Phantom was the 286th such combat loss in the South.

The prolonged lull in the ground war, now in its fifth week, was reflected in the weekly casualty report. U.S. headquarters said 157 Americans were killed in combat last week, the lowest weekly total since early last October. It was the fourth consecutive week the total of U.S. deaths was below 200.

South Vietnamese and enemy casualties of 156 and 1,248 dead, respectively, were slightly less than the week before, but the number of Americans wounded increased considerably, from 1,337 in the week that ended July 13 to 2,014 last week.

Twenty of the B52 bombers attacked elements of two North Vietnamese regiments believed massing along the Cambodian border 70 to 75 miles north of Saigon for the expected new Communist offensive. Some of the attacks were less than three miles from the border.

The strikes were aimed at easing pressure on the key government district headquarters town of Loc Ninh, where 1,500 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed last November in an unsuccessful attempt to overrun the town.

An allied strike force of U.S. Special Forces troops and South Vietnamese irregulars, supported by an armored column from

Letters to the Editor

FOR SANCTUARIES

Editor The Star: As State Chairman of Conservation for the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, perhaps I should thank Mr. Strech for the remarkable way in which, through his advertisement in Tuesday's Hope Star, he has demonstrated the urgent need for Conservation Education in our State, at least among some of the newer residents of Hempstead County.

In Arkansas, Mr. Strech, it is a violation of Law to nail signs to trees. We spell "sanctuary" with a C after the N and define it correctly as "a place of refuge and protection; for example, a bird sanctuary." The fact that Arkansas lies directly in the flight path of migratory birds makes it even more important to insure their protection from boys and men armed with guns, sling-shots and pesticides because birds are our God-given conservationists. Without birds to eat seeds for noxious weeds and insects and worms harmful to plant life, our crops would be destroyed, health hazards would multiply, human life could not continue. There is nothing humorous about protection of bird life but Mr. Strech's thinking so has certainly helped to publicize my Conservation project for the coming year.

Three years ago, I began work on Legislative Proposal to have the State of Arkansas declared by law a "SANCTUARY" for both native and migratory songbirds and waterfowl. Last year this bill was introduced, at my request, by Representative Tal-the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment, clashed with more than 100 enemy troops two miles west of Loc Ninh on Wednesday.

The allied troops reported killing 21 enemy soldiers in the 3 1/2-hour fight. One American Green Beret man was killed and one wounded, and South Vietnamese casualties were reported "very light."

It was the only significant ground action reported by military spokesmen Thursday.

On Tuesday night, enemy gunners slammed 100 rounds of mortar fire into a South Vietnamese military subsector near Loc Ninh, killing two government soldiers and wounding two more. Last Thursday troops of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment smashed into North Vietnamese troops 2 1/2 miles northeast of Loc Ninh and killed 34 of them.

tot Field, Jr., in the House where it passed by a vote of 56 to 21, and by Senator Olen Hendrix in the Senate where the vote for its passage was unanimous. With Governor Rockefeller's signature, on February 13, 1967 this CONSERVATION MEASURE became Act 78 of the Arkansas General Assembly of 1967.

Started as a Conservation Project of John Cain Chapter, NSDAR, my proposal carried the endorsement, at local and state levels, of the Federation of Garden Clubs, the Audubon Society, the Wildlife Federation, chapters of R.E.O., of B. and P.W., of U. D. C., of P.T.A. (one of the many letters of endorsement from that organization was written by Mr. Strech's sister), by the Music Clubs, American Legion Posts and civic groups such as the Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs (I understand Mr. Strech is a member of Kiwanis), and of course by the Arkansas State Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution which cooperates fully with our National Society in its extensive Conservation programs that include soil, water, timber and all forms of wildlife with special emphasis on CONSERVATION EDUCATION.

We now have a Conservation Education Council in Arkansas. We now have increasing interest in and awareness of the NEED to have Conservation of Wildlife and respect for nature taught in every school in this State. At the 1969 session of the Arkansas General Assembly, I expect to secure passage of an Act that will insure competent instruction on Conservation Education for every child in Arkansas, thus carrying one step further this work in Conservation not only of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution but of all the fine organizations whose interested concern helped me to achieve passage of Act 78 of 1967.

There is still much to be done, and only informed, aroused citizens of Arkansas can do it. I believe we will. Sincerely,

Catherine Richards Howard

NEA Entertainment Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Right now, as a result of a TV series that was unsuccessful for everyone but him, Noel Harrison, the man from old song, is in the enviable spot of being able to select the direction in which he wants his career to go.

"But I'm waiting for the direction to choose me," he said.

Noel is busy with TV appearances, and club engagements. He recently concluded a successful engagement at the Persian Room of the Plaza Hotel where he sang in a particularly effete manner. It was a lovely piece of broad comedy.

He thinks TV is the immediate answer for him. Those who know this charming, witty and relaxed young man well feel he will eventually become a director.

"TV is at a good stage right now," he says. "All the old things are falling apart. That means it's a good time impressive and unexpected. A high spot of his act had him proving that the British could, too, sing a tough song, just like the Americans. He proved it by doing the tough "Jet Song" from "West Side Story" in a particularly effete manner. It was a lovely piece of broad comedy.

He thinks TV is the immediate answer for him. Those who know this charming, witty and relaxed young man well feel he will eventually become a director.

"TV is at a good stage right now," he says. "All the old things are falling apart. That means it's a good time to try things. You can do anything. It's the easiest route for me at the moment. There is a chance I could do a series of variety shows beginning next January. I may because it's a good way to get quite rich very soon, and successful. Then I would have the money and the direction."

Noel is critical of some of the people putting on shows aimed at the teeny-bop generation. "Reality makes them nervous. Their own reaction is mostly stark terror. They are frantic and they feel they must do a show filled with frantic activity and jump cuts. They think it's what the kids want and it's not. It's the kind of thinking I call Edselism."

He may be in his 30s, but Noel does definitely have a strong rapport with youth, while also appealing to those his own age and more.

"The younger children are, the more open they are. Then they get stamped on until they are 20 or 30 at which time, hopefully, they start to grow again. Parents and children are not compatible only because they refuse to communicate with each other. When we were small children, no matter what age, our parents thought we were small children and we were really just little people. We knew, but they didn't. And that, mildred, is the whole bloody problem in a nutshell."

The problem won't exist with Noel and his own three children. He is very close to them.

He is also now, very close to his audience. "People go into show business mainly because of an ego problem. They want to be loved. If you can lose that, if you don't need love and you are not a child standing there needing approval, then there is more communication. At my second show at the Persian Room, a man fell asleep. He swayed

Studio Cutting Itself In On Movie Blood Money

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — A month or so ago, when Columbia was planning a psychological suspense movie called "The Mad Room," the studio asked producer Norman Maurer to bloody it up a little. They had been impressed by the box-office take of some recent films with a high gore quotient and wanted a piece of the action.

So Maurer and Bernard Girard, the writer and director, added a few scenes. Then, after Sen. Robert Kennedy's assassination and the antiviolenence backlash, the studio asked Maurer to tone it down. Out came the added scenes.

What is left is no afternoon tea at the old ladies' home. "The Mad Room" has more blood than bargain day at the plasma store. A couple of people are hacked to death with sabers.

"But it's all in good taste," Maurer says. "Even the scene where the dog runs around with the severed hand—I guarantee you the audience will chuckle."

"What we had originally planned," says Girard, "is a film in the Grand Guignol style. But, of course, we've had to tone it down."

He looked a little sad about it all.

"I've been through all this antiviolenence business before," he said. "And it will pass. You know, actually there are so many things that can be done outside movies in the area of social improvement—things like passing the rat control bill—that what we do on films is relatively minor."

On the set, they were doing a scene in which Stella Stevens confronts Barbara Sammeth. Stella plays the big sister, with Miss Sammeth—a newcomer with an impressive background of acting awards—and Michael Burns as her sinister siblings.

Miss Sammeth was in a bra and half-slip, sitting on a couch. Stella has just found another body—Shelley Winters', this time—and thinks her young sister did it. (It's a reasonable assumption based on the kid's past accomplishments.)

"O.K.," called the assistant director, "put some fresh blood on her and we'll shoot it."

They daubed a bit more blood on the girl's hands and went to work.

Barbara Sammeth had impressed the people in the company with her talent and her frankness. When somebody noted in the script that she would be doing this half-naked scene, all the grips said, "That's one we want to see."

Barbara laughed. "You'll be disappointed," she said.

Another one everybody wanted to be present for was a full-naked scene, involving Stella Stevens. That was guaranteed to disappoint nobody. Stella is still one of Hollywood's better-built beauties, and everybody seems to think that "The Mad Room" will establish her as a top dramatic actress, too. She's already acquired a deserved reputation as an outstanding comedienne.

The party of the second part in the nude scene is Stella's on-screen boy friend, conveniently played by her current off-screen boy friend, Skip Ward.

There is another scene of passing interest to girl watchers, this one featuring beautiful Carol Cole, Nat's daughter. In this one, she is out to seduce young Michael Burns.

Those who were on hand for that scene say that Michael was more nervous than Carol.

Lalo Schifrin is going to try something new with the music he's writing for "Hell in the Pacific," a two-character movie starring Lee Marvin and Toshio Mifune, filmed on a Pacific island.

"Since most of the film is without dialogue," Schifrin says, "I'm taking the natural sounds of the island—the birds and the insects—and the music will come out of those sounds."

Schifrin, famed for his Mission: Impossible score, says that music written for films is limited by the quality of the equipment it is recorded on and played back on.

"Most theaters," he says, "have poor equipment, which cannot pick up bass notes very well. So I have to write music and orchestrate it with lots of extra bass, to compensate."

Schifrin is planning to get into song writing soon.

Gail Fisher may be the only television star who has ever really worked in television—she used to solder wires together in the Westinghouse assembly plant in New Jersey.

From there, she went on to dramatic school, acting, modeling, Broadway, beauty contests. She was one of New York's top models—$60 an hour, which kept the Fisher body and soul together. New she's starting work as Mike Conner's new secretary on CBS' Mannix.

She's another in this season's parade of Negro performers with regular roles. Hers is not a big part—yet.

"There's a lot of me in Peggy, the part I play," she says. "But I do think I have more guts than she's shown so far. She's had tragedy—her husband died—but the only tragedy I've had is living. There's some tragedy every day."

Gail believes in reincarnation. It took some wheeling, but I finally got her to tell me her theory about her previous life.

"Promise you won't laugh," she said. "But I'm sure I was Cleopatra. There are a great many similarities which I won't go into, because it's embarrassing."

Some other time.

Czech Crisis Delays U.S., Red Parley

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotations for starting U.S.-Soviet talks on curbing the superpower missile race apparently have been stalled by the Kremlin's preoccupation with Czechoslovakia.

This is the explanation widely advanced in Washington as to why the atomic big-two have yet to announce the long-expected opening of discussions about restraining their own arms competition.

It is now four weeks to the day since Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko officially signaled Soviet readiness to begin the talks, for which Washington had been pressing for 1½ years.

President Johnson quickly responded with an announcement July 1:
"Agreement has been reached between the governments of the U.S.S.R. and the United States to enter in the nearest future into discussions on the limitation and reduction of both offensive strategic nuclear weapons delivery systems and systems of defense against ballistic missiles."

U.S. authorities said at the time that careful preliminary U.S. - Soviet diplomatic exchanges would be necessary to outline the subject matter of the talks and agree on what categories of persons should be assigned to the negotiating teams, since the atomic missiles question goes to the heart of the military might of the two great powers.

But these U.S. officials had generally expected that an accord on a time and place to begin the talks would be virtually wrapped up by the time the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference convened for its summer session July 15.

Instead, "the nearest future" of which Johnson spoke is lengthening by the day and administration sources now shy from predictions on when the discussions may start.

While the exact state of the preliminary negotiations is a closely held secret, it is understood that some days have elapsed since a reply of any kind was received from the Soviets to the last U.S. proposal about how to proceed.

In the absence of any official word from Moscow explaining the delay in a Soviet response, U.S. strategists are now inclined to attribute it mainly to the priority Soviet leaders are giving to their campaign to keep upstart Czechoslovakia in line.

According to this reasoning, the Kremlin these days operates under committee rule and it takes time for the leadership to a potential missiles hold-down.

The Czech bolt from the established order of the East European Communist camp has clearly engrossed the Kremlin as its most pressing foreign polity problem. For example, the entire 11-man ruling Politburo is slated to travel to Czechoslovakia shortly on this issue.

Thus, it is widely believed here, the Soviet chiefs are not likely to focus on the decisions needed to begin the missile talks with the United States until they have completed their decision-making on Czechoslovakia.

Peace Has Returned to Cleveland

By F. RICHARD CICCONE
Associated Press Writer
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Negro peacemakers strolling the teeming streets of the East Side maintained a measure of calm Wednesday night among crowds still restless over Tuesday's savage gun battle which left 11 dead.

Only minor incidents of loot-ing and burning occurred during the night hours as 3,600 National Guardsmen were restricted to duty along the troubled area's perimeter and all white persons were banned from the Glenville neighborhood.

The only police in the area were Negroes.

Mayor Carl Stokes said today that his gamble on the Negro community leaders paid off:
"We had no shooting and we had no deaths."

Stokes, first Negro mayor of a major U.S. city, said it was too early to consider releasing the guardsmen. "We are playing it hour by hour and minute by minute."

The plan to use "black community leadership" came in response to a challenge by Stokes who met with 109 Negro leaders Wednesday.

"I challenged them as to what the Negro community itself would do about the problem," he said. There were some 500 Negro leaders and about 100 Negro police in Glenville Wednesday night, urging residents to go home and curtailing minor outbreaks of looting.

Three white policemen and eight Negro civilians were killed in Tuesday night's exchange of gunfire. The 11th victim was identified by police Wednesday night as a looter shot by a patrolman.

Police said the body of the man, Marvin Krain, was released to members of the family soon after he was shot, and he was overlooked at first on the casualty lists.

Ten police and nine other persons were either wounded by gunfire or injured in the stoning, burning and looting that caused an estimated $1.5 million in damages in the Glenville neighborhood.

Police investigators continued probing the deadly uprising and the background of the Negro militants who Mayor Stokes said were responsible for the killings.

Ahmed Fred Evans, a black nationalist, was being held for the second day without charge as police investigated his role.
Evans surrendered to police Tuesday and was quoted by officers as saying he led 17 men in the bloody attack.

Evans was told by police that two snipers were believed dead.
"They died for a worthy cause," Evans was quoted as saying.

Police said Evans surrendered and told them, "If my carbine hadn't jammed, I would have killed you. You police have bothered us too long."

Evans, an astrologer who favors African garb, has conferred with Stokes on several occasions. The mayor described him as having a "black nationalist viewpoint."

In May 1967, Evans predicted an uprising of Negroes in Cleveland. It did not happen.

Stokes said that the building which the snipers used had been under surveillance by a police task force. He also said that the FBI warned him that black nationalists planned coordinated violent demonstrations in Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, and Pittsburgh.

Police Chief Michael Blackwell said that he had no knowledge of plotted evidence and that Tuesday's ambush was "a total surprise and shock to us."

Cong May Be Downgraded by Hanoi

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam has apparently enlarged its room for maneuver in peace negotiations by downgrading slightly the Viet Cong's program for South Vietnam's future.

A lessening of the importance
Hanoi has attached to the National Liberation Front could contribute to progress toward ending the war at some later stage of the peace talks. But it leaves the deadlock over stopping the bombing of the North and de-escalating the conflict in the South.

On the bombing issue, the North Vietnamese are holding to their demand that President Johnson end all attacks on their territory without any cutback in their military operations in return.

The United States has been equally insistent that North Vietnam must show some military restraint.

U.S. officials came here in early May believing that North Vietnam would eventually shift its position on the bombing.
Now they are beginning to reassess their judgment. The deadlock which has dominated the conference for more than two months may be more difficult to break than they thought.

Some of President Johnson's advisers are known to advocate that he stop all remaining attempts on the North in return for minimum reciprocity.

"But it makes it awfully hard for the President," one informant remarked, "if the other side won't move at all."

Ambassador Xuan Thuy reiterated in the 14th session of the Paris talks Wednesday that no other subjects could be discussed until all attacks on North Vietnam cease. Nevertheless, other subjects were discussed as usual, although such talk continues to be highly inconclusive.

Ambassador W. Averell Harriman told Thuy that if he ever wants to make any progress toward a peaceful settlement, North Vietnam will have to accept the government of South Vietnam in a peace-making role.

Thuy said last week his government would never negotiate with the Saigon regime. And Hanoi Radio repeated today that the Saigon government is "only an illegal puppet creation of the U.S. aggressors" and the National Liberation Front "is the only authentic representative of the South Vietnamese people."

However, when Harriman asked Thuy whether Hanoi is shifting its policy on the peacemaking role of the Liberation Front, he received a response which suggested to U.S. officials that Hanoi's policy has altered slightly to provide negotiating flexibility.

Thuy told Harriman, that the front's program constituted a "correct political line" corresponding to the "legitimate desires" of the South Vietnamese people.

The program is a lengthy plan for reorganizing South Vietnam under a new government in which the front would hold major power. For years, North Vietnam has said in its own peace program that the future settlement in the South must be made in accordance with the NLF program—a point which tacks on the North in return for minimum reciprocity.

ant remarked, "if the other side

Pigment-Forming Cells In Skin Cause of Moles

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What is the cause and treatment of brown and black moles?

A—Moles are caused by a collection of pigment-forming cells in the deep layers of the skin. They are present at birth but do not become evident until the second year of life or later. Whether they appear to be brown or black depends on the concentration of the pigment. They should be removed only if they are thought to be unsightly or show malignant degeneration —a sudden increase in size or change in color.

Q—I am 18 years old and have a red birthmark on my ankle. Is there any method of removal other than plastic surgery?

A—Your birthmark can be temporarily masked with cosmetics or permanently by tattooing. Irradiation with Grenz rays and freezing with carbon dioxide snow have also been used successfully.

Q—I have several small moles on my neck. I have had them before but they disappeared. Thinking they were caused by my liver I used to take calomel but now I can't get it without a prescription.
What do you recommend?

A—I would strongly advise avoiding calomel. In small doses it acts as a laxative and irritates your colon. In large doses it causes mercury poi-oning. In any case, your moles are not caused by the state of your liver. There are several ways of treating moles—see answers to the previous two questions. For the best treatment in your own case you should consult a dermatolog-ist.

Q—I have heard that myelofibrosis is a hardening of the bone marrow. A member of my family who is 63 has had this disease for five years. What is the prognosis? How does a doctor tell how much of the marrow has hardened?
Is there any treatment?

A—In this disease the marrow is replaced by bone, a change that is easily recognized in an X-ray film. The victim usually complains of weakness, easy fatigability and weight loss. The course is slowly progressive but it can be halted for a time by blood transfusion and irradiation of the spleen or removal of that organ. Recent reports indicate that massive doses of male hormone with iron and corticosteroids are beneficial.

Cupcake 'Cheaters' Please the Young

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

Looking for a surprise for the sub-teens set in your house? Try these chocolate cupcake "cheaters." They are made of stuff youngsters like—chocolate, marshmallow cream, malted milk powder and puffed rice.

These cupcakes are a novelty dessert everyone will enjoy.

CHOCOLATE CUP CAKE "CHEATERS"

2½ cups puffed rice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup marshmallow cream
2 tablespoons chocolate-flavored instant malted milk powder ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces
12 milk chocolate squares
12 walnut halves

Heat puffed rice in shallow baking pan in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) 10 minutes. Pour into well-greased bowl.

Combine butter, marshmallow cream, malted milk powder and chocolate pieces in a small saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently until chocolate is melted and mixture is smooth.

Pour over puffed rice; stir until evenly coated. Pack into well-greased, medium-sized muffin cups. Place a chocolate square on top of each "cupcake." Place in preheated oven (350 degrees) 1 to 2 minutes or until chocolate is softened. Quickly spread chocolate over top of cupcakes. Press a walnut half into chocolate. When cool, remove from muffin cups. Makes 12 cupcakes.

Chocolate cupcake "cheaters" delight youngsters.

Marinades Tenderize Meat and Add Flavor

For the outdoor cook, marinades are important because they both tenderize the meat and give it subtle and interesting flavor.

A barbecue marinade consists of a cooking oil, an acid such as vinegar and/or lemon juice, wine and, of great importance, the right spices. As the meat marinates in the mixture, the acid penetrates the fibers and carries with it the savory odors of the spices. There are several dozen spices and spice blends which can be used in marinades.

Marjoram, for example, is an excellent all-purpose herb for a marinade that is delightful for meat, fish, fowl or vegetables.

A word of caution: Spices add flavor to the meat, they should not mask or destroy the meat flavor. Therefore, go easy with them. A little spice goes a long way in flavoring. So be intelligently restrained.

MARJORAM BARBECUED STEAK

2 cups Burgundy wine
½ cup salad oil
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1½ tablespoons marjoram leaves
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon instant minced garlic
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
3 pounds (about 2½ inches thick) round or shoulder steak

Combine all ingredients except beef; blend well. Place meat in a plastic bag or in a snug-fitting dish or pan. Pour marinade over meat. Fasten bag or cover meat with aluminum foil. Marinate 18 to 24 hours, turning or spooning marinade over meat 2 or 3 times. Broil over hot charcoal a total of 30 to 40 minutes, turning with tongs about every 8 minutes and basting with the marinade. Makes 8 portions.

FASHION IN THE NEWS

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—During her nine years in the fashion field Helen Rose has become internationally known. Her designs stand for true elegance, superb craftsmanship and a type of fashion beauty that reminds a woman that she is a woman.

jackets with dresses that are belted in leather and fabric. Boots and flamenco hats truly complete the look.

In the daytime group there is fur trim on several coat costumes. Miss Rose says "All women love something trimmed with fur. It makes them feel luxurious."

For after-five the deep plunge neckline is successfully carried out in motto

No one understands the

Two-piece camel dress and coat costume (left) has high-chain belted empire waist. The coat with side wrap and high mandarin neck is banded in lynx. Flamenco inspired costume of red wool (right) has cropped jacket and inverted pleated skirt. The blouse is in matte jersey in black and has a black leather belt. These are Helen Rose designs.

female figure better than Miss Rose. This is not surprising when one realizes that she has designed the clothes for 222 MGM films, during which time she designed for every imaginable type of woman, with the plus of having created wardrobes for Elizabeth Taylor, Cyd Charisse, Debbie Reynolds, Lana Turner, Grace Kelly and Dina Merrill. She also has to her credit two Oscars.

The influence of the Spanish look has entered her Fall '68 collection not only for daytime wear but also for evening. In the daytime line there are several short, cropped jersey, with varied skirts in chiffon, jersey and luxurious bands of white mink.

For formal evening attire the ball gown is definitely back in all its beauty. The gowns are done in heavy satin, heavy silk and taffetas.

With a number of her after-five and evening clothes, she uses her signature rose bogus diamond pin.

Our Daily Bread

Sliced Thin by The Editor
Alex H. Washburn
Three Weeks in the Salt Mine Is Good for a Laugh

A noon today I flipped over the calendar on the news desk to Friday, July 26 — and discovered that Managing Editor Paul H. Jones is quite a wag. Before leaving on vacation three weeks ago Jones had leafed through the schedule to make this entry for tomorrow:

"Happy? I'll be back Monday. That would be Monday, July 23 — and if I'm still around it will only be due to the fact that we have an election coming up Tuesday, and only a coward hides out when a newspaper is on the crash program of covering an election."

Jones has been to California and back, the last three weeks, and yours truly has been on the news desk, editing copy, writing headlines, dummyming the front page, checking the sports page for appearance, and making the coffee breaks few and fast.

One of our fellow editors did a piece the other day on the fine art of writing a daily column. The other side of the coin would be a piece telling what happens when a leisurely columnist suddenly finds himself returned to the hurly-burly news desk and remains chained to it for three weeks.

All I can tell you is, you start with about 30,000 words of Associated Press wire copy which has to be read and headlined. Then there are several pieces of local news to be similarly treated — and if, as usually happens, 10 local pictures are dumped on the desk for captions and headlines, brother, you've had it!

Fulbright TV Spot Is Protested

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Bob Hall of Rison has protested to two Little Rock television stations the use of films showing him and Sen. J. William Fulbright talking.

Lee Williams, an aide to Fulbright, said Wednesday that the spot announcements will be withdrawn from stations KTHV and KATV.

Hall said a mutual friend had arranged for him to meet Fulbright at Hall's home.

"But this time I chose not to support the senator and our mutual friend knows it," Hall said. He said he was supporting Jim Johnson.

Hall asked for a retraction and said use of the film was "without my approval or consent."

Legion of Merit to Daugherty

LONG BINH, VIETNAM (AHTNC) — Army Major P. Daugherty, son of Joe S. Daugherty, Route 2, Hope, Ark., received the Legion of Merit July 4 while serving with U. S. Army, Vietnam, Engineer Section, near Long Binh.

Major Daugherty earned the award for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service as chief of Construction Materials Branch in the section. The Legion of Merit is the second highest non-combat award for achievement.

Major Daugherty entered the Army in 1953 and was stationed in State College, Miss., before arriving overseas in July 1967. He also holds the Army Commendation Medal.

A 1949 graduate of Hope (Ark.) High School, he received his bachelor's degree from the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville, in 1953 and his master's degree from Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa., in 1961. He is a member of Farmhouse fraternity. His wife, Jane Ann, lives at 211 N. Montgomery St., Starkville, Miss. His mother, Mrs. Violet L. Barber, lives on Route 3, Pine Bluff, Ark.

As the Adage Has It:

You Have to Rest Up

After a Vacation

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — It's nice to get away from it all — from vacations, that is — and get back home where you can rest.

Taking it easy is hard to take. There's nothing like a planned program of rest and relaxation to tire you out.

Getting there may be half the fun, but for me it's twice the work. Just lugging the luggage out is a major task, since it's always stored on a high shelf, wedged in among neighbors it resists parting from. But coaxing it down, while no job for an amateur, is just the beginning.

The suitcases have to be emptied before they can be filled. They're invariably loaded with out-of-date clothing, childhood attempts at embroidery, one-eyed teddy bears and old love letters, which have to be relocated while their home is away from home.

Then there's the packing. No matter how many lists and charts I make, so that we'll only have to take out one bag on overnight stops, it never works out that way. The toothbrushes or some other essentials always manage to do a little traveling on their own and end up in the case at the bottom of the pile.

We once made an extended trip through Canada, stopping at a different motel every night. There were six people along on the jaunt, as well as a dozen assorted overnight cases, hat boxes, soft-sided luggage, hard-sided luggage and shoe tote bags, plus numerous containers of souvenirs acquired along the way.

To get all this into the car trunk, everything had to be fitted in a precise way like the pieces of a jigsaw puzzle. Each morning my husband had to mastermind this half-hour exercise, as he was the only one who could remember just where it all had to be placed so the lid would go down.

Our most recent attempt at taking our ease wasn't much more successful. Feeling that a restful weekend away from the cares of work and home was in order, we accepted a standing invitation to visit relatives in a nearby city. Two glorious days with nothing to do!

When we arrived, my sister's greeting was followed by an enthusiastic recital of all the things she had planned for our enjoyment. And the crowning touch — she was giving a dinner for 20 guests Saturday night.

It was hard to squeeze the whole schedule in, but by getting a running start Saturday and going at a great pace we managed to do most of it, including shopping for groceries and preparing the big meal.

We really didn't have to leave as early as we did Sunday morning, but we figured it was better to be sleepy than run the risk of getting any more tired.

Nixon Organization Searching for Right Man in No. 2 Spot

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is quietly conducting final examinations of potential vice presidential running mates, a narrowing field said to include about seven men, even as his Republican rivals campaign to deny him the GOP nomination for the White House.

Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California both maintain that Nixon has not clinched the Republican nomination.

Nixon lieutenants claim he has. And sources close to the candidate said a vice presidential selection would be made within the next week, but that even the man chosen by Nixon probably won't know about it for a while.

The Nixon organization was seen to have conducted public opinion polls in several major states to test reaction to various men being considered as potential vice presidential choices.

One source said that figures produced by polls taken so far have not been conclusive in measuring the ticket-strengthening potential of possible Nixon running mates. The organization is still in the early stages of its search.

Red World for Czechs, Anti-Moscow

By HANNS NEUBOURG

PRAGUE (AP) — The apparent isolation of the Kremlin and its hard-line allies in the dispute with the new reformist leaders of Czechoslovakia's Communist party is one of the chief reasons why the men in Prague are confident that they won't have to change course.

With the Communist world congress scheduled in Moscow for November, a congress that the Soviets have maneuvered for several years to arrange, the Czechoslovak leaders think the men in Moscow are not likely to get too tough with them.

In addition to Romania and Yugoslavia, virtually all West European Communist parties are siding with Prague. The West German party is believed to be the sole exception, but this counts for little since it is controlled by the East Germans.

Even the Spanish Communists, who are heavily dependent on Moscow's support, have reminded the Russians of Lenin's dictum that Socialist revolutions must not necessarily follow one pattern. And the Hungarians, although they signed the Warsaw letter denouncing Prague's liberalization drive, are known to be only lukewarm in their opposition.

The Russians have maneuvered themselves into a "disaster."

Cosmetic Studio to Open Here

Latest addition to the business community of Hope is the new Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio at 415 East 4th Street which will hold formal opening from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., Sunday July 28, according to Mrs. Mary Nell Arnold, owner and manager, who will serve as official hostess.

Unusual aspect of this grand opening, according to Mrs. Arnold is the offer of a free hour of beauty and a complimentary makeup to all girls and women who drop in or call for an appointment.

"In addition," Mrs. Arnold explained, "we'll serve refreshments, give everyone a favor — and there will be door prizes too."

The new studio, a charming feminine boutique carrying a full line of Merle Norman Cosmetics, will function on a try-before-you-buy premise based on the basic "three steps to beauty" philosophy of this 33-year-old California firm of cosmetics manufacturers.

In line with the overall philosophy of Merle Norman Cosmetics, Mrs. Arnold, Hope's newest Studio owner, completed an intensive training course at Merle Norman Cosmetic Training Center Magnolia, Arkansas, where she gained practical knowledge in cosmetics, complexion care and the art of make-up, along with fashion trends and color predictions for the seasons ahead.

The new Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio will be open daily, Tuesday through Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Mrs. Arnold issued a cordial invitation to every girl and woman in Hope and surrounding areas to drop in at 415 East 4th Street for special Grand Opening favors, or phone PR7-6270 for an appointment for a Free Hour of Beauty and a complimentary make-up.

Ed Kennedy Boomed for No. 2 Spot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Support reportedly is growing among some Democratic party leaders for a possible spot on the national ticket for Massachusetts Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Former Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said Wednesday many party leaders supporting Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the top spot on the Democratic ticket have told him they would back Kennedy as a running mate.

Kennedy's possible candidacy also got a strong boost Wednesday from Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, who declared, "I hope the convention will draft Ted Kennedy for the vice presidency."

Daley said he thinks Kennedy would make a "great running mate" for whomsoever the convention nominates as the party standard bearer.

DiSalle also said he has received favorable response from convention delegates in eight states to his proposal to nominate Kennedy for president.

DiSalle, in a statement released in Washington, said the support came from Michigan, Maine, Nebraska, West Virginia, California, New York, Kansas and Iowa.

There was no comment from Kennedy, who has been publicly silent on all political matters.

Trees Felled to Blockade Buffalo River

HARRISON, Ark. (AP) — Land owners in Newton County have felled trees across the Buffalo River along a 12-mile stretch from below a low water bridge off Arkansas 7 to near the Searcy County line.

George Viorelli, chairman of the Land Owners Association, said today that the action was taken to draw attention to their plight of not being able to get a hearing on the river's future.

The association wants the river dammed or left as it is. A bill has been introduced in Congress to make the river a national park.

The action to block the river to float trips along the 12-mile stretch was decided after Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said he would push for the national park next January.

The land owners met Monday and decided, "We are willing to die in our river bottoms. They'll have to shoot us off," Viorelli said.

Viorelli said about 60 association members felled more than 200 trees along the river, blocking the unusually heavy float travel on the narrow and rapid mountain stream.

The association has been fighting for two years to have the river dammed while others in the area want the river preserved in its natural state.

Viorelli said the association had asked for congressional help, or at least a hearing, but that it had received little reply from the state's delegation.

How to Vote an Absentee Ballot

The Attorney General's Office has issued an opinion stating that a person who will be unavoidably absent from his voting precinct on election day, is ill or is physically disabled may vote by absentee ballot. To receive an absentee ballot an application must be made to the office of the County Clerk.

The application may be made in person at the office of the County Clerk, by mail or may be delivered to the County Clerk by the voter's husband, wife, son, daughter, sister, brother, father or mother not later than 1:30 p.m. on election day. The application must be signed by the voter.

If the County Clerk determines that the applicant is a qualified voter in the county she may allow the applicant to vote in person in the office of the County Clerk, may mail the ballot to the applicant or may give the ballot to the voter's husband, wife, son, daughter, sister, brother, father or mother to deliver to the voter.

This is the only method an absentee ballot may be obtained. If you know you will be unavoidably absent from your voting precinct on election day or if you are physically disabled, please make application early to give the Clerk time to mail your ballot and time for you to return the ballot to the County Clerk's office before election day. To be counted, absentee ballots must be received in the office of the County Clerk not later than 7:30 p.m. on election day.

Faubus to M.C. Party by Bennett

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Gov. Orval Faubus will serve as a "natural" master of ceremonies at a fish fry-political rally at El Dorado Tuesday night, according to Bruce Bennett, a Democratic candidate for governor.

In a telegram to Bennett Wednesday, Faubus said his appearance should not be taken as an endorsement of any candidate.

"Perhaps the factor that really determined my acceptance was the fact that I am receiving equal publicity with Brother Dave Gardner and I would dislike to break up the show," Faubus said.

Bennett said all gubernatorial candidates except Mrs. Virginia Johnson have indicated they will either appear at the rally or send a representative.

Blind Marine Has Mastered Intricate Computer Operation

By HAROLD V. STREETER
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Paul Duke, a big man, eager and confident, personifies the successful technician of the computer age.

As a programming analyst of the RCA Information Systems Division at Camden, N.J., he has the warm respect of scores of colleagues.

He is happily married and has two sons at his home in Cherry Hill, N.J.

One thing sets him apart. Paul Duke has never once seen his wife, Dolores. He has never seen his children. And he has never seen the computers with which his mind works brilliantly.

Paul Duke is blind.

As one of the first sightless people to enter the computer field, the 38-year-old Marine veteran of the Korean War is in San Francisco to receive Saturday the achievement award of the Blinded Veterans' Association.

Back home after being twice wounded and freezing his hands and feet in Korea, Duke was instructing a Marine Corps class in assault demolition at Quantico, Va., in 1961 when tragedy struck. A defective fuse prematurely exploded 125 dynamite caps and destroyed his sight at 21.

"I knew right away this was no completely earth-shaking psychological handicap," Duke said in an interview in San Francisco.

"When I was a kid of 10 in my home town of Binghamton, N.Y., I gained a tremendous respect for Michael Suga, the godfather to two of my uncle's children. Mike, who seems to me like a relative, is a consultant psychologist for a computer manufacturer. He has been blind since he was two."

"Also there's Bob Russell, a Rhodes Scholar, now a professor of English at Franklin University at Lancaster, Pa. And he and I used to wrestle at the YMCA in Binghamton. Bob's been blind since he was three."

"Both are well rounded. Both lead normal lives. So there was no question in my mind that I could do something. The question was what."

In 1957, five years after entering Syracuse University, Duke was graduated magna cum laude from the College of Business Administration.

Duke persuaded a computer firm in Boston to give him summer training. Three years later, after graduate studies, he launched his career as a computer analyst.

McClanahan to Speak at Centennial

Arrangements were being completed today for a church-wide picnic and a crowd of more than 700 at First Baptist Church ushers in its three-day centennial celebration at 7 p.m. Friday at Fair Park.

Dr. John H. McClanahan, former pastor, is listed on the program as guest speaker. He served the local church as pastor from 1957 to 1962.

During his ministry, the new two-story educational building was planned and ground-breaking ceremonies were held at about the time he was called to First Church at Blytheville, later to First Church at Pine Bluff.

Members and guests of the church will bring picnic lunches which will be spread on tables inside the coliseum. A huge birthday cake will also be on display.

At 7:30 p.m. Saturday, a pageant of church history will be held in the sanctuary, and on Sunday former pastors Dr. Wallace R. Rogers and Dr. S. A. Whitlow will speak from the pulpit.

Burlesque Film Has Become Big Evidence in Fortas Hearing

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A 14-minute strip-tease film entitled "O-7" has become an issue in the fight over Senate confirmation of President Johnson's nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice.

Two Senate Judiciary Committee members, Sens. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, say all their colleagues should see the film before voting on Fortas' nomination.

McClellan said this is one reason he blocked action at a committee meeting Wednesday on a motion by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to recommend that Fortas be confirmed.

"I thought every member of the committee should have an opportunity to see the film before they vote," McClellan said.

Fong said the film was discussed at Wednesday's closed committee session. "All the members are anxious to see it, and I think they should," he said.

McClellan, Fong and Hart earlier this week saw the film shown by James J. Clancy, a Los Angeles attorney representing Citizens for Decent Literature, Inc.

Clancy subsequently told the full committee that a 5-4 Supreme Court decision, "with Justice Fortas casting the deciding vote," reversed the finding of a federal district judge, a Los Angeles jury, and California appellate courts that the film was hard-core pornography.

"This judgment is representative of his actions in other cases," Clancy testified in referring to decisions of Fortas in obscenity cases since he became a member of the Supreme Court in 1965.

A committee meeting may be called next week, but with many of its Republican members leaving.

Cutbacks Made by Hope P.O.

Because of the Congressional mandate to cut back Federal employment to the June 30, 1966 level — including 83,236 for the postal service nationally and many in this area — mail service limitations will start locally July 27, Postmaster A. D. Brannan said today.

The local postal head has been advised by Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson to comply with the cutback required by Congress under the recently-enacted tax bill (Public Law 90-364) by reducing some postal services and curtailing new hiring.

Curtailments as follows will take effect locally:

Effective July 27, all regular Saturday and Sunday window service will be discontinued.

Effective July 27, Saturday collection of mail from street deposit boxes will be adjusted to conform to the generally less-frequent Sunday collection schedules.

Whitbeck, Boswell Trade Blows

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Democratic candidates Frank Whitbeck and Ted Boswell traded large doses of criticism in television speeches Wednesday night in hopes the people will consider them the right treatment for the party's gubernatorial nomination.

Whitbeck and Boswell swung away at each other and they brought in Marion Crank of Freeman and Bruce Bennett of Dorado for a few blows of criticism.

Whitbeck said that "every one of my opponents is deeply indebted to either extreme liberals, right wing reactionaries or 'old guard' special interests." He referred to Boswell as the "ultraliberal candidate," and he was critical of Crank's former tie to Arkansas-Louisiana Gas Co.

Whitbeck devoted most of his remarks to Boswell.

"One of my opponents, the ultraliberal candidate, spends his time discussing such issues as mixed drinks and downgrading all of his opponents," Whitbeck said. "He doesn't even seem to be aware of the state's basic problems. Ironically, he berates his opponents for not talking about what he says are the 'real issues.'"

"The extreme liberal candidate decides that a constitutional convention is right and we must have it right now," Whitbeck said. "He decides that we must have mixed drinks, and right now. He decides all small schools must be forced to consolidate, and right now. And if people do not agree with him, they are all wrong, without any reason or logic."

Then at Trumann Wednesday, Whitbeck, without naming whom he was talking about, said, "the machine candidate is doing all that he can to tie up the Highway Department, which we struggled for years to take out of politics."

"I am disgusted when I see this week the deals that are being made all over the state for roads here and roads there with a machine candidate," he said.

He also said he would re-vitalize the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission to include the development of business and agriculture as well as industry. He also said the prison farm should be able to pay its own way and "that it shouldn't be a country club."

Rockefeller Endorsed by N. Y. Times

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times today editorially endorsed New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination but refrained from any endorsements in the election.

The Times said Republicans "can nominate a man with broad understanding of foreign affairs, with demonstrated popular appeal to Negro as well as white voters, and with valuable executive experience, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is that man."

Soviet Is Moving Into Indian Ocean

By CLAUDE E. ERBSEN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A top American admiral has told friends the Soviet Union is moving quickly to fill the power vacuum left in the Indian Ocean by British withdrawal east of Suez, it was learned today.

Adm. John S. McCain Jr. says the Soviets already have a three-ship force patrolling in the area and will probably move more units into the region.

The force has greater firepower and greater mobility than American units now operating in the Indian Ocean area.

McCain said in a telephone interview today that the Soviet buildup there is part of the Russians' worldwide emphasis on expanding their seapower.

"And I don't just mean naval units," he said, "but also oceanography, fishing and their merchant marine."

While the U.S. Navy has long maintained a three-ship force in the Mideast, it is heavily out-gunned by the Soviets who are operating a task force made up of a modern cruiser, a destroyer and an oiler.

The American force consists of a small seaplane tender used as flagship and two destroyers, generally World War II types. They depend on shore facilities for fuel and supplies.

The Soviets, on the other hand, are free to roam the area without need for shore support, refueling at sea from the oiler. They have already shown the flag in India, Iraq, Iran, Somalia and several smaller countries along the Red Sea.

McCain earlier this month relinquished command of all U.S. naval forces in Europe as well as the Mideast Force. He will take over July 31 as commander of all American forces in the Pacific.

He has told friends the Soviets have "Every intention of filling the gap" left by Britain's withdrawal from the Indian Ocean and predicts they will give it a higher priority than catching up with American seapower in the Mediterranean. The Russians already have an estimated 30 ships operating there, in waters that were once the almost exclusive preserve of the U.S. Sixth Fleet and other NATO warships.

Riot Put Down in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Rock-throwing crowds smashed several windows along Detroit's 12th Street early today and police arrested 14 persons in connection with the disturbance.

"Looting was held to a minimum," said an officer from the 10th Precinct, which covers the 12th Street area, where the worst riot in modern American history first flared up a year ago.

"It was mostly broken windows this time," the officer said, adding that most of those arrested were charged with disorderly conduct, breaking and entering or traffic offenses.

Police in the area were on a tactical alert for 5½ hours, but the alert was lifted at about dawn.

Meanwhile, across the state in Benton Harbor, police reported calm overnight for the first time in four days.

Commenting on the number of arrests in Detroit earlier in the evening, a 10th Precinct officer said the number was "not unusual for a night like this."

Earlier the street was lined by crowds, but an officer at the command center at police headquarters said, "Everything is subsiding now. Everything's calmed down."

"We've had seven arrests" said an officer from the 10th Precinct, "but that's not unusual for a night like this."

The precinct covers the 12th Street area which a year ago Wednesday erupted into the worst U.S. riot of modern times.

The officer said that all seven had been arrested for disorderly conduct but it was not immediately known if they were arrested in connection with the disturbance.

There were no reported injuries nor any reports of looting.

The state police command post in East Lansing said "We have been in contact with Detroit and were told it's a minor problem for the time being and no assistance was needed."

The command post said the state police "had several people on the street" but that they were intelligence agents and not troopers.

The five-day riot in Detroit last year began July 23 following a police raid at an after-hours drinking establishment on 12th Street.

since the assassination of his brother, Robert, last month.

The Kennedy candidacy reports were the political highlight in a day in which Humphrey delivered a speech before the International Platform Association in Washington and two Republican presidential hopefuls—Ronald Reagan and Nelson A. Rockefeller—toured in the South and Midwest.

Humphrey's major rival for the Democratic nomination, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, tended to Senate affairs in his Washington office while Republican hopeful Richard M. Nixon vacated in California.

Although Humphrey has declined to disavow Johnson administration policies in Vietnam, the vice president has for several weeks conducted what might be described as an attempt at gentle disengagement.

Before the platform association he stressed, as he has in numerous campaign speeches, the need to learn from what he calls mistakes in Vietnam.

"Too often we pay for what we think will be peace with blood, with men and munitions. I suggest we start to pay the bill for peace with goods, and with services and with capital and with education and with health and with social development," Humphrey said.

Later, Humphrey told newsmen he would issue within the next 10 days two statements on American policy toward Asia and Southeast Asia.

On the Republican side, sources close to Nixon said the candidate probably would pick a vice presidential running mate within the next week but that the man who is chosen probably won't know about it for awhile.

The sources said Nixon has been conducting private polls in several major states to test reaction to several potential choices but that results have not been conclusive.

Rockefeller wooed young voters in a midtown Kansas City speech Wednesday, then tried to persuade Missouri and Kansas delegates to support him if Nixon doesn't win nomination on an early ballot.

The New York governor called the delegates a "mighty friendly group" but said he could not tell what effect his talk had on them.

Click! Berkeley, Kansas City GOP chairman who says he is an uncommitted delegate, estimated many Missouri delegates may go for Rockefeller if Nixon does not win early.

"That's all we ask," said a Rockefeller aide.

Chemical Plant for Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Englehard Minerals and Chemicals Corp. of Newark, N.J., made official Wednesday reports that they are to build a new plant near the Mississippi River in Lake County, Tenn.

A company spokesman said the site of a new "precious metal catalyst plant" will be on a 250-acre tract near Tiptonville, Tenn.

The first in a series of buildings to be constructed will cost $4 million.

Construction is to begin in early fall.

The new plant will initially employ about 100 persons.

Englehard is a worldwide refiner and fabricator of precious metals, a miner of non-metallic minerals, and an international marketer of ores, metals and alloys.

Fulbright Endorsed by Gazette

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Gazette today endorsed Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., for re-election.

In an editorial, the Gazette said Fulbright has earned re-nomination in next Tuesday's primary and re-election in November "by smashing majorities."

The editorial said two of Fulbright's foes are obscure figures "running for obscure reasons."

This was an apparent reference to Bobby K. Hayes of Calico Rock, who is making his first political race, and Foster Johnson of Little Rock, who ran against Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., two years ago.

Of Jim Johnson, the Gazette, without using Johnson's name, said he is "a dangerous radical who has been trying to divide and disrupt the state for more than a decade."

Among the factors the Gazette cited as reasons for support for Fulbright were "simple respect for the courage he has shown over the years," "his

Nigeria to Pass Food Shipments

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
Associated Press Writer

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — A reported agreement in Niger between Nigerian and Biafran delegates for a mercy corridor to aid starving Biafrans is "so ridiculous it is out of the question," a federal spokesman said today.

Reports from Niamey, Niger's capital, said a 10-mile wide corridor would extend from Enugu, captured Biafran capital, 93 miles east to Ogoja.

"It must be a mistake, an error in transmission," said the official, pointing out that Ogoja is an almost inaccessible area long under federal control. He pointed out food taken to Ogoja would be farther from Biafran-held territory than it would be at Enugu.

"Ogoja was never mentioned in the talks," said Timothy Omo-Bare, federal government rehabilitation commissioner who returned Wednesday from the Niamey talks. A member of the Nigerian delegation, he said the two sides last were reported far from agreement on a corridor.

The federal spokesman said it was possible the report confused Ogoja with the Nigerian proposal to open a "mercy corridor" from Enugu 33 miles south to Awgu. Awgu marks the deepest penetration from the north of federal soldiers.

He said the federals have offered to provide two corridors for supplies destined for the millions of civilians reported starving as a result of the year-long civil war. The second would run south from Onitsha, on the western border of Biafra.

Informed sources in Niamey had reported the Biafran-Nigerian accord on a relief corridor from Enugu to Ogoja was reached Wednesday night.

It was understood that Biafra was also pressing for observers from the Ivory Coast, Gabon, Zambia and Tanzania, the four countries that have given diplomatic recognition to Biafra.

The Biafrans were expected to ask that the airport Enugu be demilitarized.

Both these demands were to be taken up at a meeting of the full delegations.

The delegations from Nigeria and Biafra met last week in Niamey, northwest of Nigeria, to arrange a resumption of negotiations to end the year-old civil war. But with world opinion growing more and more concerned about the threat of starvation in besieged Biafra, the negotiators over the weekend began considering ways of getting food to the millions in the 10,000 square miles of eastern Nigeria in which the Biafrans are encircled.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A judge to hear the Robert F. Kennedy murder trial will be chosen "in the normal way," says Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer, in charge of the court calendar.

Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, 24, charged with murdering the New York senator, will appear before Schauer to enter a plea Aug. 2.

A trial date and a trial judge will be decided at that time, barring further continuances or a plea of guilty, Schauer said Wednesday.

They Elope: He's 84 and She's 70

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An 84-year-old man and his 70-year-old sweetheart of one week eloped Wednesday because "relatives opposed the marriage."

"We were lonesome," said Mrs. Joseph Yedlicka, formerly Viola Foster. She said she lived in the same apartment building in St. Louis as her new spouse for three months but they met through a friend only last week.

Both had previously been married. The new bride, formerly a nurse, has one son. Yedlicka has four sons and a daughter. They said opposition to the whirlwind marriage made them "elope" to East St. Louis where they were married by a magistrate judge.

The bride gave this advice to other couples: "The thing to do is not to court too long and fool around too much. Six months or so is long enough."

enormous prestige about the country and around the world," and "the great range and volume of material benefits which he has helped bring to Arkansas."

We care

Good potato, but we won't use it

This is a NO. 1 grade potato. But we won't use it for Jane Parker Potato Chips because it measures more than 4 inches in diameter. We have minimum and maximum sizes to insure the best chips... the best eating.

But size isn't the only thing we're fussy about. We'll use only certain varieties of potatoes. There are 20 or more varieties we wouldn't think of using... they just don't make good chips.

We're careful about potato sugar content. It must be low to produce chips of uniform color. We're fussy too about crispness, thickness and lots of other things.

This may seem like an awful lot of fussing, but that's the way we are about all Jane Parker products... about all the products we make.

When you think about it, shouldn't fussy A&P be your store?

Crab-meat Newburg for Summer

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

Looking for something a bit special for your summer luncheon party? Then why not try Crab-meat Newburg served in shells. It gives a regal touch to your party. And tastes quite elegant.

Because its custardy sauce is made with cream and egg yolks, it can do with a bit of nutmeg. Ground red pepper and garlic powder enhance the flavor still further, while parsley flakes in the bread crumb topping contribute their subtle aroma.

CRAB-MEAT NEWBURG
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
2 cans (7 1/2 oz. each) crab meat, flaked
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon ground red pepper
1/4 teaspoon instant garlic powder
1 1/2 cups light cream
4 egg yolks, beaten
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 cup buttered fresh bread crumbs
6 lemon slices
Parsley flakes

Crab-meat Newburg in shells pleases eye and palate.

In a medium-sized saucepan, heat butter; add crab meat. Cook over low heat until hot, stirring constantly. Blend in salt, nutmeg, red pepper, garlic powder. Combine cream with egg yolks; add to crab meat. Cook, stirring occasionally, until mixture begins to thicken, about 10 to 15 minutes. Add lemon juice. Turn into individual casseroles; top with buttered fresh bread crumbs and brown under broiler. Garnish with sliced lemon and parsley flakes. Six portions.

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

TWO-TIME Oscar winner Luise Rainer appeared in Spoleto, Italy, at a reception honoring the 11th anniversary of the annual summer music festival there. The famed actress was named the year's best for her roles in "The Great Ziegfeld" (1936) and "The Good Earth" (1937).

Rags and Riches

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The rag trade is known as a father-to-son kind of business. But show business, too, has played its role as a springboard into the garment industry for quite a few of our young designers and manufacturers.

Mr. Blackwell, for example, a Dead End Kid years ago, backed into designing the day he pin-draped a costume on a girl when he was her theatrical agent. Now he has a booming business in the California garment industry.

Larry Salters, designer for Russ Togs, came to the rag race from show business.

And Larry Farragut, who is responsible for the chic fashions of Maggi (Ann Bloom, Inc.) is another refugee from the halls of drama.

His stage name was Doug Brooks and he started in show business with Tony Curtis and Harry Belafonte. His motion picture credits include "Demetrius and the Gladiators," "Girl Next Door," "Phone Call from a Stranger," "Reunion in Reno," and others. His television credits are numerous.

Delightful to hear was the story of how this attractive and amusing man used his acting prowess to springboard himself from show business to ladies' dresses with not one easy lesson.

The movies had dropped in popularity. Everything was going to Broadway. "I couldn't even get work when I wore my once-lucky 'interview suit' that had cost me 40 bucks," he said.

"One night, while I was watching a TV show in my hotel in Laurel Canyon, I saw a program that showed how someone went into the rag business and made a fortune. Should I give it a whirl?"

Farragut thought about the fact that never in his life had he looked into a window of women's clothes and asked himself how he could get into the business when he didn't know anything about dresses. With nothing to lose, he decided to try.

He didn't know Don Loper, either, but figured if he was going to learn the rag trade he might as well start big. And Don Loper of California is BIG.

When Farragut walked in at

Larry Farragut
3:10, Don Loper was pacing his office, waiting.

"All of a sudden," Larry admitted, "I knew I couldn't really bluff this one. So I simply said, 'I'm an actor.'"

Loper snapped back, "That's obvious."

"I told him I didn't know a thing about the dress business but was sure he needed me terribly," Farragut said. "He let me speak for about 10 minutes, then pointed to his office door."

"Hundreds of people come through that, looking for work. But you're the first to ever tell me how ill-equipped you are." He hired Farragut on the spot.

Loper sent his new employee to New York with a customer's list.

"I went to Bendel's," Farragut recalled, "pushing peau de soie. I'd never heard of it in my life. But they bought it. I booked hundreds of orders that trip without even knowing what I was selling."

But he was serious about learning the dress business. He walked the streets of New York at night and looked at all the store windows and then went back the next day to study and look some more. And, as is evidenced by his successful business today under the Maggi label, Larry did indeed learn the rag trade.

When he left Loper, he came to New York to work for Goethe and, when that firm was closing, management wanted Farragut to take over the business. But he didn't have that much money at the time.

Farragut believes that the men in the business end of the clothing industry should get out into the retail stores and see the consumer who buys their clothes.

"When a woman can afford dresses at $150 and up, she is no longer a baby. She usually knows what's right for her and won't be herded into buying something that is not, just because it's a fad."

Years have passed since that television program gave a temporarily-at-leisure actor the idea that he could get rich in the dress business. He had about as much chance of success as a sandlot player would have of hitting a homer off Juan Marichal.

But he did it. And the Maggi collection for Fall-Winter '68 is a dazzler.
